Death Of Man Recorded As Suicide Is Now Being Investigated

By ARTHUR L. MAREK

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 30.—Startling revelations in the Marion Parker kidnaping and murder case were promised today as District Attorney Asa Keyes ordered a sweeping grand jury investigation of the astounding confessions of William Edward Hickman, 19-year-old confessed kidnaper, killer and bandit.

While the new grand jury inquiry was called for the primary purpose of delving into the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, Los Angeles druggist, killed in a holdup of his Rose Hill pharmacy, Keyes indicated the investigation would attempt to clear up many of the unsolved phases of the abduction and brutal slaying of the little Parker girl.

Dual Confessions.

The grand jury investigation was ordered following the dual confessions of Hickman and Welby Hunt, 16-year-old Kansas City youth, that the two boys planned and executed the daring holdup of the Rose Hill pharmacy which was climaxed by the fatal shooting of Thoms on Christmas Eve, a year ago.

Hickman admitted firing the fatal shot. Hunt confessed to his participation in the robbery, but denied responsibility for the killing.

The possibility that another murder would be brought to light was being investigated by the attorney's office.

A. F. Driskell, a well-to-do dry goods merchant of Alhambra, was found dead on May 25, last, beneath the high span of the Arroyo Seco bridge near Pasadena.

Police reported his death as a suicide.

Withdrew Large Sum.

Their investigation revealed that on the same day Driskell had gone to the Los Angeles bank where Hickman and Hunt worked as messengers and had withdrawn a large sum of money. No money was found on his body.

Will Rogers Shot, Yes, in Airplane, From U. S. Ship

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Dec. 30.—Lindbergh's Central American tour will do more than establish good relations. It will make people study maps that haven't studied anything but golf scores and menu cards in 20 years.

WILL ROGERS

Speaking of advanced aviation, yesterday on the battle ship Pennsylvania I took my first catapult in a plane from a ship.

From a standing start on a runway only 60 feet long, you are going 60 miles an hour at the end of it, shot by compressed air, so just watch your head and see that you don't leave it behind you.

Maybe you don't know it, but every one of our battle ships carries three or more planes.

We are going great now, if any disarmament conference don't hit us, via airplanes.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

Dunlap And Genkinger At Last Council Session

Today was the parting of the way for Mayor William H. Dunlap and Councilman Louis Genkinger, who on Monday, at 10 o'clock a. m., will have completed their terms of office, to which they were honored by the citizens of New Castle.

When council adjourned today it marked the last councilmanic session, for the transaction of business at which they will sit with Councilman Burns, Davies and Tyler but the step in their career did not go by unnoticed.

Before council adjourned, Councilman Burns, acting as spokesman for Davies and Tyler, addressed Mayor Dunlap and Councilman Genkinger and said they regretted that the time had come to part.

Mr. Burns spoke of the harmony, co-operation and pleasant relations that has existed between city councilmen in the conduct of city business.

It was a neat, touching address and in reply the Mayor and Councilman Genkinger said they had appreciated the opportunity to have served and appreciated the close, harmonious co-operation.

Judge Chambers Imposes First Sentences Today

Prisoners Found Guilty In His Court Hear Their Penalty

TWO ARE SENT TO PENITENTIARY

Three More Are Given Terms In Allegheny County Workhouse

Judge James A. Chambers had his first experience sentencing prisoners today. Although it was a new and novel experience, the duty was performed with the air of a veteran jurist. A stranger in the court room would never have suspected that it was the judge's first experience.

He listened attentively to the pleas of attorneys, and passed his sentences without any evidence of nervousness. The list of sentences passed included two to the Western penitentiary, three to the Allegheny county workhouse and two to the county jail. Four paroles upon the payment of fines and costs were granted and one was sentenced to pay costs.

Sentences Imposed.

The sentences were as follows:—

William Huddle, breaking and entering a building, known as Candy Land, $100 and costs and eighteen months to the Western penitentiary. Huddle had been engaged in cleaning windows about the place. One day the wife of the proprietor came when the store was locked and asked him to climb over a transom to get something for her. This gave him the idea of getting into the building when no one was around, and he admitted that he had entered twice and stolen some money.

Thomas Moore, convicted of aggravated assault and battery, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs and to undergo imprisonment in the Western penitentiary for one year. He was convicted on the second count of the indictment.

Patsy Delillo, possessing liquor, $300

Three Jurors In Illinois Case

Slow Progress Being Made In Trial Of Hill For Mother's Murder

(International News Service)

OTTAWA, Ill., Dec. 30.—With three jurors tentatively accepted by the state, the trial of Harry Hill of Streator, Ill., accused of murdering his mother, Mrs. Eliza Hill, wealthy recluse, and burying her body in a shallow basement grave, was resumed here today with the questioning of more prospective jurors.

In the questioning of State's Attorney Russell Hanson was seen an indication the state would demand the death penalty for young Hill. One juror, a 75-year-old farmer, married, was the first to sit in the box. Two others, also married farmers, were to be cross-questioned by the defense today.

It is not expected that a jury will be completed before New Years.

National Sales Tax Plan Again Before Senate

Senator Smoot Again Revives Talk Regarding Proposed Change In Federal Tax

PLAN APPEARS MOST FEASIBLE

Poor Would Benefit Considerably By Institution Of One Per Cent Sales Tax

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—With the new tax reduction bill definitely "pigeonholed" in the Senate for three months at least, Senator Reed Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the Senate finance committee, today revived talk for adoption of a national sales tax as a substitute for all other federal taxes.

The present uncertainty over how much revenue will be raised next year by existing taxes was cited by Smoot as an argument in favor of the sales tax. The dispute between the House, which decided that a $290,000,000 slash in taxes could be allowed, and the Treasury Department, which held that only a $225,000,000 reduction could be afforded, presented another reason, said Smoot.

The Senate's financial leader predicted the sales tax would be adopted ultimately because of its simplicity and equality of application, and "probably within the next decade". He estimated that a one per cent sales tax, applicable on the ultimate consumer, would produce an annual revenue of at least $1,600,000,000 with all other taxes—except the tariff repealed. It would apply to each individual, said Smoot, in proportion to his purchasing power, thus scattering the federal tax burden lightly upon the poor and heavily on the rich.

Mellon Welcomes Delay

The new $290,000,000 tax reduction will meanwhile remain before Smoot's committee indefinitely, since

ILLEGAL LIQUOR SEIZED IN RAID

Alarmed Patrons Of Club Dash To Street In Excitement; Bond For Actress

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—In a sensational raid on the Chez Helen Morgan early today, a large squad of Federal prohibition agents seized a quantity of alleged liquor, wrecked the interior of the exclusive night club and forced 300 formally attired patrons to the street.

Arrest Owner

The officers arrested Helen Morgan, musical comedy star, as the owner of the establishment. She and eight of the club's staff were taken to police station in a patrol wagon and charged with illegal possession of liquor.

The actress, who plays a leading role in "Show Boat," a Broadway production that recently opened here, was highly indignant. Clad in an expensive evening gown and ermine wrap, she excoriated the raiders for the methods of operation.

Bondsmen came to her rescue, how-

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Administration officials have been puzzled and not a little nettled over the reappearance in Europe of virulent agitation for downward revision of the war debt settlement.

This agitation is revived periodically abroad, and while it is regarded here as utterly futile, it always requires much diplomatic pain and effort on the part of this government to quash it and convince the debtor nations that there is no real basis for

Great Britain Has No Objections To Elevation Of Guns

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The British government has no objection to the elevation of guns on American battleships although the British themselves have not elevated guns since the Washington naval arms conference, Secretary of State Kellogg said today.

The house recently authorized elevation of guns on two U. S. ships, but a provision was attached that the work should not be done unless approved by the state department.

Col. Lindbergh Makes Another Flight On Tour

Lands In British Honduras After Trip From Guatemala City

LONE EAGLE MAKES STOP AT BELIZE

No Regular Flying Field Is Available; Large Field Used For Sports Utilized

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Colonel Lindbergh landed at Belize, British Honduras, at 9:45 a. m., Central time, according to a cable dispatch to the Western Union offices here.

(International News Service)

The tentative route of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when he hopped off at Guatemala City today represented the two sides of a triangle with the base missing. Belize lies 242 miles northeast of Guatemala, and San Salvador is 262 miles southwest of Belize. The straightline distance between Guatemala City and San Salvador is only 105 miles. Lindbergh planned to continue to San Salvador if he found himself unable through field conditions to land in British Honduras.

BELIZE, British Honduras, (via Guatemala City), Dec. 30.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 9:50 today and was accorded a great public reception.

Unless the colonel is persuaded to change his mind he will take off tomorrow for Salvador.

GUATEMALA CITY, Dec. 30.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 6:20 o'clock this morning for Belize, British Honduras, on the second leg of his good will flight over Latin America.

No Landing Field

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off from Guatemala City for Belize, British Honduras, at 7:21 o'clock this morning, according to a message to the State Department from the American consul at the Guatemala capital.

A landing will be made at Belize provided the field looks inviting to Col. Lindbergh. There is no regular flying field there, but a large area devoted to sporting events may be used. Telegraphic advices asserted the field was suitable for landing purposes, but Lindbergh said prior to taking off that he would make a decision after viewing it from the air.

If Lindbergh does not land at Belize he will continue on to San Salvador.

Belize is 250 miles from Guatemala City, and San Salvador 260 miles from Belize.

Most of the route lies over mountainous country unsuitable for landing in case of trouble.

$50,000 Yearly Enough For Woman's Clothing, Says Millionaire's Wife

MRS. FRANK C. HENDERSON.

By HAZEL CANNING.
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Recently when Professor Lillian Locke of Columbia college, announced that the young working woman could dress well on $200 a year she stirred up a tempest.

All the women denied that any woman could dress well—on such a modest sum.

Most of the husbands agreed that Professor Locke was a very sensible woman.

"Too Much Nonsense."

Finally a new note was struck, when Mrs. Frank C. Henderson, wife of an Oklahoma millionaire, addressed the Junior Club of society debutantes in New York city.

"There's too much nonsense talked about women's clothes" said she. "And the woman who claims she can dress on $200 a year is making as bad a mistake, in one way, as the woman who insists she must have $150,000 a year to dress nicely. The working girl always will be nicely dressed—though she starves to do it.

"The great criticism of young society girls today is that they expect to dress as well as we older girls,

(International News Service)

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30. — County and state authorities here today expressed a growing conviction that Mary Louise Fordyce, pretty 19-year-old Sunday School teacher, had eloped and had not been kidnaped, when she disappeared while on her way to work Tuesday morning.

The officials expressed belief that the girl voluntarily left with Evan Pocci, 31, well known "man about town."

Mrs. Mary McVay, the girl's aunt, with whom she made her home, maintained her niece had been kidnapped.

Probate Judge's Ruling Declares Remus Insane

Cincinnati Man Who Killed His Wife Ordered To Asylum At Lima, O.

SEQUEL TO VERDICT RENDERED BY JURY

Jury Found Remus Not Guilty Of Murder On Grounds Of Insanity

(Bulletin)

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, Dec. 30.—George Remus, once the "brains" of a powerful bootlegging ring, today was adjudged criminally insane and ordered sent to the state asylum at Lima, O.

The finding handed down by Probate Judge William Lueders is the sequel to the killing by Remus of his wife, Augusta Imogene Holmes Remus, whom he accused of carrying on a love affair with Franklin Dodge, federal prohibition agent.

Following a trial of five weeks a jury of 10 men and two women, after deliberating 19 minutes, brought in a verdict of "not guilty on the sole grounds of insanity", the only "not guilty" verdict allowed in the charges of the trial judge, Chester Shook.

Mrs. Remus was shot and fatally wounded by her husband, the former bootleg king, on October 6 as she was en route to the court of domestic relations, where she was to testify in her suit for divorce from Remus.

Under the jury's verdict it was compulsory that Remus be brought before probate court for a sanity hearing. This hearing was conducted Wednesday, with Judge Lueders and three alienists presiding.

The medical men, it was learned, declared that Remus was sane, but "a dangerous psychopath", and recommended that he be kept in custody.

It was brought out during the hearing that Remus recently made a statement to the effect that "it might be legally wrong, but not morally wrong, to kill Franklin Dodge."

Judge Lueders, in his decree holding Remus insane, declared that the "evidence discloses that George Remus at this time does not believe it morally wrong to commit further homicide.

"Therefore, from the evidence, testimony and exhibits submitted in this case, the court is of the opinion and finds George Remus now is insane

Another year nearly past our heads, another twelve month of things we've done, another time to take stock a bit, ere the time for a new year has begun. Another year of hopes realized, of ambitions fostered or plans gone wrong, it seems much more when we figure back, but again as we view it, it wasn't long. Another year coming in to us, to do as we will in the time its here, another twelve month to carry on in courage and valor, or doubt and fear. And to all is given the right to do with the days and weeks as best we know, to each the same sixty minute hours, to develop and foster and watch them grow. The same opportunity comes to all to see our dreams end in rose or gray, the answer lies solely within ourselves, the weather is forty-eight today.

Butler Man Says Hickman Gave Him Lift In His Car From New Castle To Butler

It may not be an honor to ride in the same automobile with Edward Hickman, alleged slayer of Marian Parker, 12-year-old school girl of Los Angeles, but such was the experience of Fred Kummer, of Kummer Brothers meat market, 149 North Main street, it was learned today.

According to Mr. Kummer, he left Butler for New Castle early one morning in October and when near Mt. Chestnut the truck which he was driving broke down, forcing him to walk towards Butler.

A Chrysler roadster could be heard coming from the direction of New Castle and Mr. Kummer decided to pick up a ride if possible. The car approached and stopped after he had signaled for a ride.

"Hickman, whom I did not know at that time, opened the door of the car and I asked him to take me to Butler. He did not say yes or no, but I climbed into the seat beside him.

"After riding with the man for a few minutes I told him that his face seemed to be familiar and that I thought I knew him."

"You don't know me," said the man.

Mr. Kummer explained that the man seemed to act peculiar at the time and did not seem to be in a mood for conversation.

"I asked him if he was going to Pittsburgh, to which he replied that he was driving from Chicago to New York. I then told the man that I could show him the best way to Pittsburgh, but he replied that he had a road map, and we again became silent."

Upon arriving at the west end of the city Mr. Kummer offered to buy breakfast for the two, as an appre-

Music Director For Westminster

Alan B. Davis Of Johnstown Named As Head Of College Music School

TO ASSUME DUTIES ON NEXT MONDAY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Announcement was made today by Dr. W. Charles Wallace, president of Westminster college, to the effect that Alan B. Davis, baritone of Johnstown, Pa., had accepted the position of director of the musical conservatory of Westminster college, and will take charge on Monday, January 2, 1928. He succeeds Dr. Carl Franz Bellinger, who resigned some weeks ago as director.

Mr. Davis is a musician of many years of experience. He is a graduate of the voice department of the Indianapolis Conservatory of Music in Indianapolis, Ind., and as a baritone soloist has been on the concert stage for years. Some years ago he located in Johnstown, Pa., and founded the Johnstown School of Music in that city. After heading it for some years he opened a private studio which he has conducted successfully for the past three years. He is also organist and choir director of the First Presbyterian church of Johnstown.

Following the resignation of Dr. Bellinger, President Wallace has been searching for a musician whose experience was rounded enough to fit him for the important post of director of the Westminster conservatory. In the selection of Mr. Davis, President Wallace believes that he has secured a musician who is also an executive and who will be fully competent to serve Westminster college to advantage.

$50,000 YEARLY ENOUGH FOR WOMAN'S CLOTHING

whose husbands have finally achieved their fortunes. The young girls are not willing to wait as we old girls have waited. Now as to figures.

How to Spend $50,000.

"The smart woman of society may well spend fifty thousand dollars on her wardrobe. This way—$20,000—furs.

$14,000 — afternoon, evening gowns; summer dresses.
$2,000—shoes, stockings, scarves, fancy flowers.
$4,000—lingerie.
$1,000—hats.
$1,500—gloves, handkerchiefs perfume.
$2,000—sports clothes.
$2,000—coats.
$1,000—negligees.
$1,500—upkeep, trunks, cleaning, dying, etc.

"Now" says Mrs. Henderson, "a woman may possibly be justified in spending fifty thousand a year. To spend any more, I call wicked extravagance. I do not care how rich the husband is. And for the young society woman, $5,000 should suffice. Five thousand, and brains, will dress any woman beautifully. But she must know the economical dodges. She should wear considerable black. That saves eternal matching of shoes, hats, furs, stockings and bags to go with different colored costumes.

Pass Budget And Tax Levy Bills

Several Other Ordinances Are Adopted Finally Today

City councilmen in session today at city hall, adopted the appropriation ordinance, providing for an expenditure of $608,453 and the levying of a tax levy of 11¾ mills for 1928. The levy is divided as follows: General revenue fund, 9' mills; sinking fund, two mills, and library purposes, one-half mill.

Other ordinances adopted follow:

Providing for the construction of a storm sewer in Lutton and Moravia streets.

Changing and fixing the grade in Lee avenue.

Changing the district between Florence avenue and the first alley east of Pearson street, and between Valley street and the first alley south of East Washington street from "C" to "Light Industrial" district.

NEW YORK NIGHT CLUB RAIDED BY FEDERAL AGENTS

ever, and before dawn she was free on bail. She and her associates were to be given a hearing later.

Big Crowd Gathers

A crowd of nearly 1,000 persons gathered on Fifty-Fourth street as the alarmed patrons of the club dashed to the sidewalk. Broadway has not seen so much excitement in months.

The raid was made under the personal supervision of Regional Director Major Maurice Campbell. It was taken to indicate that further raids will be made on night resorts where preparations have been made to usher in the New Year riotously.

Most of the twenty prohibition agents were imported from Washington especially for the raid. They seized a dozen bottles of alleged liquor, and removed the club's fixtures and furnishings, valued at $50,000, to a warehouse.

Seizure of the club's fixtures marked the inauguration of a new policy by the local prohibition enforcement officers.

The crowd in the street hissed the raiders, and was promptly dispersed by police. Word of the raid spread along the White Light district, and patrons of other night clubs quickly left for their homes.

BUTLER MAN SAYS HICKMAN GAVE HIM LIFT IN HIS CAR

ciation for the lift to town, but Hickman refused, stating that he would eat in Pittsburgh.

"I left the man at Mifflin and Main streets, and placed a blanket which I was carrying in the store.

"Later I decided that a cup of coffee would do me good so I went towards a restaurant, when I saw the Chrysler roadster parked in front of the Butler Savings and Trust company building and when I entered the restaurant, the man was eating.

"The man did not act very sociable during the ride and when I started a conversation he would cut it short with some snappy answer, which led me to believe that he was more than I could see on the surface.

"But when I saw his picture in the papers I knew that it was the same man that had picked me up on the New Castle road early in October," Mr. Kummer concluded.

Hickman, it will be remembered confessed to a drug store robbery in the middle west early in October, during which a drug clerk was killed, after which he started to Cleveland, Pittsburgh and New York, later returning to Missouri.

It was also brought out in his confession that he had taken a Chrysler automobile after the robbery and murder.

By looking at the close-up of Hickman in the newspapers, Mr. Kummer positively identified Hickman as the man who went through Butler and gave him a lift.—Butler Eagle.

LEADERS NETTLED BY AGITATION OF DEBT SETTLEMENT

the inspired reports continually cabled from this side of the Atlantic.

Cause Of Revival.

The present revival apparently has had its origin in the numerous speeches made in Washington this week by collegiate economists attending the convention of the seventeen American learned societies, and collaterally in the impending visit of S. Parker Gilbert, the reparations czar.

The capital has been literally deluged this week with addresses by college professors and university economists favoring cancellation of war debts, or material revision downward. Apparently these speeches have been cabled abroad by enterprising foreign correspondents, and have been interpreted by the alert cancellationists in the debtor countries as reflecting a changing attitude on the part of this government.

French Papers Comment.

At any rate, there has just appeared in a number of American newspapers a long dispatch from Paris to the effect that the French government—which has not yet ratified the Mellon-Berenger debt agreement—would "look with favor" upon an American move to revise not only the French settlement, but all the settlements.

One Paris dispatch started off by saying:

"Washington dispatches forecasting American initiative in a move for revision downward and a general settlement of war debts and reparations have been well received here."

The continual flow of this sort of stuff across the Atlantic is a source of unending annoyance and embarrassment to the treasury and the state department, for there is no intention on the part of any branch of the American government, legislative or executive, to cancel or revise the debt payments, with or without reference to the reparations payments.

Seldom has there been a major question upon which there is such unanimity of opinion. Both Republicans and Democrats are equally committed to the collection of the debts in their party platforms, and those pledges will be reiterated in the 1928 platforms.

Against Cancellation.

President Coolidge, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Secretary of Commerce Hoover, all the other members of the cabinet, and every party spokesman in congress, are on record publicly as against the cancellation of the debts, or revision of the existing agreements.

Inquiry today disclosed there has been no change in administration opinion. On the other hand, the position was taken that the lenient settlements already made have justified themselves. Treasury officials pointed to Italy's return to the gold standard as one proof. In announcing its return to the gold standard, Mussolini's government cited the generous debt settlement made with America as one of the chief contributing factors which made the return possible.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced that no harm would come by delaying its enactment until after next March 15. The delay is welcome, said Mellon, because it will give the government opportunity to learn how much revenue will be produced next year by existing taxes. Then, said Mellon, the government can better estimate the amount of reduction that can be allowed, without causing a treasury deficit.

This information was contained in an exchange of letters between Smoot and Mellon. As a result, Smoot said he would not call for hearings on the new bill until well on in the new year, and would not report it to the Senate until after March 15, so that its enactment into law will be delayed until next April. Whenever enacted, the reductions will be applicable on taxes paid in the new year, even if the treasury has to make refunds, both Smoot and Mellon agreed.

Smoot, however, urged adoption of the sales tax as a means of ending all future disputes over taxation.

"We must come to the sales tax some day," said Smoot. "It is so simple of application and its application is fair to all classes. It has been said the sales tax would transfer the tax burden to the backs of the poor, but that is nonsense. The rich will pay the heavier taxes because the rich buy higher priced automobiles, diamonds, costly furs and huge homes. The rich pay $125 to $200 for a suit of clothes and the poor man pays but $25 or $50. In just that proportion the rich would pay the heavier tax.

No Evading Tax

"Nobody can evade this tax. It does away with hordes of federal snoopers. It reduces the cost of collections. It eliminates costly lawsuits. Business can plan ahead for years, knowing exactly what tax it will have to pay. All uncertainty is eliminated. All confusion is ended.

"When a change of rate is desirable there will be no need for redrafting a whole law. Only one word need be changed. Instead of saying one per cent, we can substitute three-quarters of one per cent and the new rate is enacted. The sales tax is the most effective, the most just and the most equitable of all taxes. Its adoption here is only a question of time."

Senator Reed of Missouri says positively and finally that he will not consider another term. Let somebody else do the investigating.

Assessors To Handle City Tax Exoneration

Councilman Davies today presented a motion, which passed council in regular session today, making it compulsory that all requests of citizens for exoneration of city taxes be filed with the city assessors for investigation before council will take action. This step, decided unanimously by councilmen, was taken for the purpose of ascertaining if the petitioners' report of conditions, such as being unable to pay taxation, is truthful.

THE WIDE, WIDE WORLD

DO NOT be distressed overmuch by news of evil. This is a wide, wide world. It contains much that is bad, but more that is good. Righteousness is slowly, but surely, triumphing over sin.

If you do not believe that, or merely have not realized it, turn for a moment to contemplation of happier things. Turn your tired eyes from the day's record of evil to the day's golden roll of honor. There is more of good news than of bad news today every day. There is more to see on the sunny side, and it is more worth seeing.

There are only two reasons for gazing at ugly things; either that we may more fully know evil when we meet, even in gilded robes; or that we may grapple with it and blot it out.

Broad highroads of honor lead to every worthy goal of life. The mud roads are in the lowlands, leading only to dissolution and corruption. If we travel the mud road it is at our own volition.

Sin is not the harvest of life. It is the chaff threshed from the wholesome grain and will be swept from the threshing floor. Why look upon the chaff when the grain is there?

If some days the volume of chaff seems greater than others, know that the threshing has been more thorough.

This is a wide, wide world, and full of sweetness for those who would find it.

LESS FOOD NEEDED IN MACHINE AGE

THE substitution of machinery for manual labor is said to be having its effect in diminishing the demand for food. By making science do his work man requires less for his own nourishment.

The National Industrial Conference Board, whose investigation points to such a conclusion, also reports a decrease of 5,000,000 horses in fifteen years, thus releasing to other purposes the 15,000,000 acres of land formerly required to support the horses.

Here is a new angle on the farm problem and the question of surplus. It acts as a further stay on the immediate consummation of the Malthusian doctrine, which decrees that population increases at a more rapid rate than the means of subsistence.

It implies, too, that demand, or lack of demand, has something to do with the situation.

In other words, McNary-Haugen methods, which concern prices, fall short of dealing with an excess supply that the world refuses to absorb.

DO YOU WANT THE METRIC SYSTEM?

IN KEEPING with a long-established tradition, one of the first bills introduced in the new congress is a proposal for adoption of the metric system in merchandising throughout the United States.

The conflicting considerations arising in any discussion of such a proposal are invariable. There is a general concession that logic underlies the suggestion, a general recognition of the fact that an alignment with the world's practice in this respect would benefit all of us who have any contact with world merchandising, a general admission that the decimal feature in any system of measures is to be preferred to any other for the ease with which calculations may be made. The sole obstruction in the way of its adoption is merely the effort and expense entailed in the replacement of readjustment of present producing machinery to a new system of measurement.

Manufacturers with costly jigs, dies, taps and other tools would be obliged to replace them or adapt them to the new scale. Indeed, the imposition on these people is so palpable that the bill attempts to ameliorate it by providing that the period in which adoption of the metric system must be completed shall be 10 years, and that producers even then may still use any measures they wish in production so long as their product is merchandised in terms of metric measurement. While this concession is vital, if the bill is ever to become law, it remains to be seen whether it removes all the traditional objections of those whom it immediately affects. The metric system is one of those ideal institutions whose adoption is impeded solely by the fact that it would replace another, less desirable, but deeply rooted in our consciousness and business practice.

Permanent waves are fine in hair, but not so good in streets.

People generally save a few cuss words for a rainy day.

People who won't stop at anything should never drive autos.

Endurance: That rare quality evinced by a 14-pound turkey in a family of three.

THE REMUS CASE

When Chief Justice Taft made his criticisms, some weeks ago, of the operation, under certain circumstances, of the jury system, and his suggestions for improvement, he did not foresee that his son, Charles P. Taft, as prosecuting attorney in Cincinnati, would be forced to bow, in the Remus murder case, to one of the most extraordinary and most perverse performances of which a jury has ever been guilty. It would be interesting if the members of that jury could be submitted to an intelligence test, or even psychoanalyzed. There might then be more definite data as to the means by which certain irresponsible types might conceivably be excluded, developing the thought of the chief justice, from the panels from which juries are chosen.

It should be borne in mind that the problem of securing more intelligent and responsible juries than that which served at Cincinnati, does not call for study merely for the purpose of securing a higher percentage of convictions in criminal cases. It is probably true, although generalizations are dangerous, that the predominant errors of our juries consist in an irresponsible and emotional disregard of law and facts in declaring the innocence of defendants who are actually guilty. The Cincinnati jury tried to set Remus free and found him insane only because the judge, in his charge, had declared that the only basis on which he could be found "not guilty." Such a jury under a different set of circumstances and in a hostile atmosphere such as that which, for example, surrounded the case of Leo Frank in Georgia some years ago, would be likely to show an equal disregard of law and fact in sending an innocent man to the chair or gallows—Springfield Republican.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 4:41. Sun rises tomorrow 7:24.

When Lindbergh hops into his airplane and says to his mother "Goodbye, mother, I'm going to spend the week-end in the country", she probably answers, "What country?"

It won't be long now—until New Years.

Six deaths from poisoned Christmas moonshine were reported up until yesterday in Pittsburgh. And this will not keep a lot of people from taking a chance with death.

The mother of Hickman, who killed the little Parker girl in Los Angeles, declares through her broken hearted sobs that her boy could not be capable of committing the horrible crime he is accused of, or rather has confessed to doing. The father of this chap says he wants nothing to do with him and the law can have him. Mother never goes back on the son no matter how low and black he is. Heaven bless her—and help her.

The reason most people can get along better in poverty than they can with riches is because they are more used to it. The fellow who gets a little money and forgets that he was once poor makes a big mistake.

One goodthing about the disgruntled office-seeker, who has a run-in with the party leaders, he usually manages to get back in line before the campaign opens.

Don't make the mistake when the fake promoter says emphatically, "There's thousands in it", of thinking that it means for you.

A common ordinary laborer at Hamilton, Ont., knocked a bank burglar down with a crow bar when he was going out of the bank with a bag full of plunder. That laborer ought to be in line for the presidency of the bank at least.

Some men spend half their lives on an invention that makes somebody else a millionaire.

About eighteen hundred hogs were burned up in a stock yard in St. Louis and hundreds of hogs and "goats" were driven out of reach of the flames before they were injured. We know what hogs are for but what about the "goats"? Some sheep must be goats according to that.

Necessity is the grandmother of invention's little improvements.

Thank heaven we have guts enough to express our contempt in other ways than by writing annonymous letters. We would rather smell a skunk any time than read one of those poisoned notes.

Fewer people commit suicide by drowning because they know they will have to come up three times, and it's so dreadfully annoying.

About all the horrible murderers in this country have great difficulty in getting from the jails to the court rooms in which they are tried on account of the great crowds that block the way. Doing some nasty murder is about the only way some birds can get famous—or rather infamous.

A Chicago man killed his wife in the morning because she nagged him all night and when the police came for him in the morning he was snoring near her body and his sleeping child. What terrible things some humans do lightly.

At Harrisburg it is stated that about half a million motorists in Pennsylvania will be without tags for their cars on January 1. This means that their busses will be in the shed until they get the tags as no extension of time is to be granted under any circumstances.

A man said to us yesterday: 'Fred, I can remember several years ago when you folks first started to have Christmas trees lighted on your front porch some people used to say you were nuts to do a thing like that, but now the same people who said it are doing the same thing." We never heard any one say we were nuts, but they have said it about us in lots of other things than having Christmas trees on the porch. People say a lot of things they are sorry for afterwards and we are no different than most other people, glory be.

People who are color blind can't tell whether they feel blue or are scared pink.

We Have Always Fought Against This And Been Cussed For It.

Hints and Dints,

How about New Castle? Our own men out of work walking the streets, and how many out of town men are employed on our new hospital and high school. They are carrying more money out of town than the poor blind woman. How much support have or will they give New Castle, Pa? When the work is done they go to their own town and wait for New Castle's next building, and we who pay taxes and do all our buying in New Castle can starve to pay our bills.

L. TAYLOR.

As a rule the one at fault in an automobile accident is the one who had rather pay up than bother with a lawsuit.

A farmer at Marion, Ill., was dragged into court by his wife because he had failed to pay her alimony of fifteen dollars a month. After he had proved to the court that he had not made twenty-five dollars since the court made the order he was discharged. Farmers often have a hard way of making money if they make any at all. No doubt this farmer may have sort of laid down a bit on account of the alimony at that.

A bandit in Texas put on a Santa Claus outfit and struttered out to rob a few banks. It has been a wonder to us that more crooks have not adopted the Santa Claus clothes as a disguise and burgled that way. They could get into most any house about Christmas time and no questions would be asked for fear of offending Santa Claus.

Living costs are no more than they used to be, if you live as people used to, but we don't call that living.

King Ben Purnell of the House of David has been enbalmed and laid away. Some of his whiskered followers may believe he will come back, but we doubt if many do. After embalming when they come back in the flesh it is a miracle of the Lord.

Does only the congressman who successfully raided the pork barrel bring home the bacon for his constituents?

A gentleman, doubtless, is one who remembers to be tenderly chivalrous while a lady cusses him.

The trouble over football eligibility between the Naval and Army academies has reached Congress, but there is a possibility it will be settled without calling in the marines.

Down in Texas banks are offering $5,000 for dead bandits. If the banks in Chicago made an offer like that they would go broke within a short time.

That Doylestown, Pa., girl, who offered to marry the first man who paid her $10,000 claims to have received 33 letters of proposal from men who were willing to accept her on these terms. Even though the young lady is said to be very easy on the eyes, it shows there are a lot of suckers in the world.

Dr. John Foster of this city owns a nice piece of land this side of the field club on the New Wilmington road. There is no house on it, but the doctor is getting the ground planted in shrubs and so forth so when he does get the house the land will be nice. Last summer, at great expense, he bought a fine blue spruce tree, and all summer long the whole Foster family nursed that tree along and kept it growing nicely. It was the pride of the owners. Imagine the disgust of the good doctor and his family when they went out there yesterday to look things over, to find that some low-down, lantern-jawed thief had come along and cut the beautiful tree off close to the ground and carried it off, evidently for a Christmas tree. Only those who grow things can feel the hurt caused by such acts of vandalism. We would not blame the doctor for saying real cruel things about people who do such things. In fact, we would like to lead the duet on that occasion of wild sayings intended only for the purpose of jarring the erring ones.

Under the new auto regulations there can't be any hogging of the road in Pennsylvania. A driver is supposed to keep his side of the road at all times. That is fine if it is just enforced. If everyone keeps their side it will help some.

Boston is said to be boycotting beef at the present time. But you can still get plenty of beans and codfish in the culture center of the United States.

If all the automobiles that are being sold just now have to be made up and delivered there will be some good business on the part of the auto makers, the steel makers, the tire makers and last, but not the least, the money makers.

The next edict that Mussolini is to make is to put a stop to the earthquakes in Italy. If the old boy tells them to stop, they will stop, and just put a pin on that. Just wait and see.

Bert Balchen, or whatever the name of the man whom Mrs. Grayson fired because he turned back twice after the "Dawn" had started across the sea, is probably pretty well pleased that he did get the can. Observers cannot help believing that he knew his business when he turned back. At least, he knows where he is, but no one knows about Mrs. Grayson, except, perhaps, Davy Jones and the Good Lord over all.

A man in Pittsburgh is reported to have committed suicide because of the fog. His brain must have been a little foggy also.

Yale University set out to raise $20,000,000, and the fund needed was greatly oversubscribed. Though not professing to have the culture of Harvard, Yale has a way of doing things that is admirable, to say the least.

It won't be long now until New Year's eve is with us. And those people who stay up to see the old year out and the New Year in can sleep in Sunday morning, as they always do.

Well, we're just about rid of the snow and ice and nature has acted kindly in removing it. Now we are ready for some more snow, and may it stay on a little longer the next time.

The nations no longer have mailed fists—just flat palms, with the thumb at the nose.

Mr. Coolidge translated the word "choose". Now if he will clear up the other muddle by defining the words "farm relief".

Kings can no longer boss the works as they once could, but we could name a few queens who can.

Happy Kansas.
Big Editor's Big Thoughts.
Worked to Death.
Goodbye, Mistletoe.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

NEWTON, Kan., Dec. 30.—Going through Kansas on the writer's third trip across the continent this month, the weather is fine, white-faced cattle in the standing cornstalks seem happy and fat, you see 40 automobiles on county roads where you used to see one buggy or rockaway. Kansas pigs, many of them "Jersey Reds", live in wide fields, instead of muddy stys and are clean. Pigs, like human beings, are clean in the right environment.

Newspapers of different passing cities, like so many lighthouses, give information. The Kansas City Journal, William Allen White's Emporia Gazette, Senator Capper's Topeka Daily Capital and the Murdock Brothers' Wichita Eagle, tell you all there is to know, and more.

Great Kansas editors seem to have about the same interests.

First comes the fact that young Hickman, kidnaper and murderer, wonders whether he will be hanged or jailed for life. He won't wonder very long. And the other fact that he likes perfumes which cling to his overcoat after thousands of miles in an open car.

Next in importance comes the fact that J. Pierpont Morgan consents to head the U. S. Steel corporation. And after that, information that Mexico on second thought won't confiscate oil lands that were owned by Americans before Mexico's latest constitution was invented.

It was suggested in this column lately that farmers might some day sell cornstalks to make artificial silk and find the stalks worth more than the corn.

William Allen White on his front page says: "An Emporian," which means an inhabitant of Emporia, is building a factory to make from cornstalks, cellulose to be manufactured into artificial silk, paper, films, celluloid, explosives, varnishes and other products.

These Kansas cattle with white faces will miss the wide fields of cornstalks now left standing, but farmers will be happier.

Victor Murdock, in large type on front page of his paper says, "Rome was shaken by a quake four minutes yesterday, but its agitation was nothing compared to that among the relatives of Sylvester Poli at Turin, Italy, when they heard yesterday that Uncle Sylvester was coming home from America with 30 million dollars."

That sum, amounting to almost 600,000,000 lire will be very welcome in Italy. Mussolini will know how to make it useful and how to tax it.

Senator Capper's Daily Capital says mistletoe sales have fallen off. There is little demand for it. "Kissing is too common nowadays to be looked forward to as an unusual Christmas treat."

A modest lady climbing to the top of the London bus held her skirts tightly about her ankles, the weary bus conductor said; "Legs is no treat to me, ma'am."

Legs are certainly no treat in this country, and now the young think the mistletoe a joke. Thus romance goes into the discard.

THE TOLL OF TIME

Time, the relentless foe of humankind
Demands its toll and chuckles at us all.
A year is born, grows strong and drops behind
And all its youth is gone beyond recall.
A tooth I lose and cry: "Why should that be?"
"You're getting old," my dentist says to me.

"I'm young in spirit," promptly I reply
"The spirit has not teeth," he answers back.
"Some things there are which cannot Time defy.
You're lucky still to have your hair so black."
"What next will go?" " 'Twould cause me no surprise
To learn you're having trouble with your eyes."

Last night I picked the 'phone book up to find
A number which I felt I ought to call,
"What's wrong," said Nellie, "are you going blind?"
"It's queer," said I. "This type seems very small!"
"The way you shove that book away," said she,
"Is proof an oculist you ought to see."

So to his office smilingly I went,
And when my little tale of woe I'd told,
He smiled and said: "You see we can't invent
A means to keep a man from growing old.
Nothing is wrong, except your eyes are tired,
You've reached the age when glasses are required."

COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE

The whole difficulty with our thinking about the marriage question lies in our two different points of view. One looks at the matter from a religious and sentimental standpoint. It regards marriage as sacred and would brook nothing that threatens to disrupt it.

The other attempts to apply reason to the matter and to deal with practical situations.

It looks to a by-standing mind as if two people who discover they cannot get along ought to be able to secure a divorce as easily as they contract a marriage. On the contrary, however, we find the laws of almost every state fulminating against collusion. There must be no agreement between the dissenting husband and wife. The one must make charges and the other must defend them. Somehow or other it implies that there must be some sort of scandal connected with divorce.

The effort of Judge Lindsey and others to establish companionate marriage is an effort to apply common sense and rational adjustment to a complicated problem. These people are not immortal and they are not aiming at free love or multiplying the opportunities for illicit or irresponsible relations.

One view of marriage is that its ultimate object is simply and solely the creation of children.

There is another view of it, however, which is that marriage may be simply for companionship, that solace and pleasure which are enjoyed in the permanent relationship of man and woman without thought or intention of progeny.

The other day Major-General Robert Lee Bullard, Commander of the Second Army in the World War, was married at a rather advanced age, and he was married by a Catholic chaplain. In this marriage there was certainly no thought of children. These two people simply wanted the satisfaction that comes from companionship. They probably think rightly that their lives would be more ordered and their conduct would be more surely moral if they live together as man and wife than otherwise.

The theory of those in favor of companionate marriages is that such relations will, in most cases, result in permanent attachments and possibly eventually in children.

The existence of a large number of unmarried men and women between the ages of twenty and thirty is not good for this country. It provokes irregularity of conduct, and these people to be good citizens ought to be married.

Those in favor of companionate marriage think that it would benefit the morals of the country and restrain people from irregular lives, they ought to be given credit at least for their good intentions.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

APE AND MAN.

I heard a man once say that if a "Modernist" could believe that the ancestor of a splendid, intelligent human was an ugly flat-headed ape, he had some respect for the "Fundamentalist" who could swallow the Jonah story; hence the following quotation:

An ancient ape, once on a time
Disliked exceedingly to climb.
And said, "Now this belongs to me
I have a hunch that monks are nuts
And I can make them gather nuts
And bring the bulk of them to me
By claiming title to this tree."

He took a green leaf and a reed,
And wrote himself a title deed,
Proclaiming, pompously and slow;
"All monkeys by these presents know."

Next morning, when the monkeys came,
To gather nuts, he made his claim:
"All monkeys climbing on this tree,
Must bring their gathered nuts to me,
Cracking the same on equal shares,
The meats are mine, the shells are theirs."

"By what right," they cried amazed
Thinking the ape was surely crazed,
"By this," he answered, "if you'll read
You'll find it is a title deed,
Made in precise and formal shape
And sworn before a fellow ape
Exactly on the legal plan
Used by the wondrous creature, man
In London, Tokio, New York,
Glengarry, Kalamazoo and Cork.
Unless my deed is recognized,
It proves you quite uncivilized."

"But said one monkey, "You'll agree
It was not you who made this tree."
"Nor," said the ape, serene and bland
"Does any owner make his land,
Yet it, and all of its hereditaments
Are his, and figure in the rents."

The puzzled monkeys sat about,
They could not make the question out
Plainly, by precedent and law,
The ape's procedure showed no flaw;
And yet, no matter what he said,
The stomach still denied the head.

Up spoke one sprightly monkey then,
"Monkeys are monkeys, men are men.
The ape should try his legal capers
On man, who may respect his papers.
We don't know deeds; do know nuts;
And spite of 'ands' and 'ifs' and 'buts,'
We know who gathers and unmeats 'em.

So tell the ape and all his flunkeys
No man tricks can be played on monkeys."
Thus, apes still climb to get their food
Since monkeys minds are crass and crude,
Tnd monkeys, all so ill-advised,
Still eat their nuts uncivilized.

ADVICES FROM THE FRONT

Mrs. E. C. Hamill, 1316 Elizabeth street, Brownsville, Texas, writes of an extraordinary instance of ball lightning display in Nevada, a few years ago. Two men were in charge of a power station, half a mile from the town of Rhyolite.

"One was looking after the machinery," says Mrs. Hamill, "and the other was at a typewriter. Suddenly they saw a ball of lightning rolling toward the power house on a power wire. When the ball reached the power house it blew the whole works to bits, and fire, following the explosion, did $60,000 damage. The ball of lightning was seen to travel along the cable, before the explosion, all the way from Carrara Marble Mines, 24 miles from Rhyolite, which is 60 miles south of Goldfields."

Ball Of Light Bounced

John E. Hinshaw, route ten, Emporia, Kansas, writes that he had an experience with ball lightning about 51 years ago, when he was a boy, near Emporia. He was running toward a barn for shelter from a sudden shower, when a ball of light, about the size of a hen's egg, dropped straight down in front of the barn door, and arose again before touching the ground. There was no noise and no damage, but a colt that was standing near was badly frightened, as was young John, who had been within a dozen feet of the ball of fire. Mr. Hinshaw adds that he has seldom mentioned the incident, because he had never heard of another like it. I suppose he has been afraid that people might think him queer for seeing such strange things.

Hit Telephone

Miss M. B. Stewart, Hotel Majestic, Chicago, writes that she saw ball lightning a good many years ago. During a thunderstorm a ball of fire passed through a room, from a window to a telephone. There was a report like a pistol shot when the ball reached the telephone.

All of these experiences add to our store of data about ball lightning, which is growing large. I am immensely interested in the variety of testimony. Hardly any two experiences were alike in all essential points. The size of the ball of fire has varied from marble-size to the proportions of a large pumpkin. There's room for a few more testimonials in this scientific experience meeting.

Over 14,000 Persons Face Mayor Dunlap During Four Years

Large Number Of Total Arrests Is Due To Minor Traffic Law Violations

Fines, Costs And Other Receipts Of Office In Four Years Reach $103,267

When Mayor William H. Dunlap has completed his four year term as chief executive of the city on next Monday, a number of records with regard to the police affairs of the city will have been established, which may stand for a time.

Excluding the records of the present and last month of his term of office there has been collected and turned over to the city treasurer in fines, forfeits and money received for dance, fire and other types of permits issued under the supervision of the police department, the sum of $103,267.53. The money received this month will not materially change this figure, owing to the fact that arrests have become fewer and fines imposed and collected smaller.

Several present day regiments of persons have been arrested and listed on the police docket during the past four years that Mayor Dunlap has been in office. The arrests in that period total 14,052. The records for the present month show that this number will be increased slightly more than a hundred.

It will be interesting to note some of the figures relative to the charges appearing against those persons listed on the docket. In the past four years, those charged with drunkenness numbered 1940, those charged with disorderly conduct 1694, those with being the keepers of disorderly houses 723, while the visitors in such places numbered 1463.

The parking violators in the four year period numbered 4,576 or an average of approximately three for every day of the time that Mayor Dunlap has been in office. Speeders arrested and fined in that period of time numbered 541.

In the same period of time, there have been eight persons arrested by the police on charges of murder, an average of two a year. Three have also been charged with manslaughter in the same period of time.

Violations of the liquor laws according to the records total 77, while those charged with operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor number 28.

The records show that of the total number arrested, 10,018 have paid fines, while 120 have worked out their fines. The number sent to the county jail numbered 127, while the number on whom sentence has been suspended totalled 1919.

In the past three years permits issued for dances have reached the rather interesting total of 1061. All these figures will be slightly increased by the figures of the present month.

Pleasing Christmas Program Presented At Second Church

Musical Play Entitled "A Christmas Revelation" Given By Bible School

The Second United Presbyterian church was filled with an appreciative audience Thursday evening to witness the annual Christmas entertainment presented by the Bible School.

The entertainment was in the nature of a musical play entitled "A Christmas Revelation" arranged by Robert H. Terry with dialogue and lyrics by Jane C. Tyler.

The characters which took part did exceptionally well and presented the real meaning of Christmas in a most entertaining manner. Those taking part were Alberta Brenner, Vance Glenn, Martha Randles, Anna Marie Black, Hazel Louise Campbell, Edward Bollard, Margaret Brenner, John Barnes, Lavantia Campbell, Robert Ray, David Rees, Wilma Woods and Elaine Bollard.

Selections by the orchestra led by Miss Evea Coulter interspersed during the play added much to the attractiveness of the entertainment.

Carol singing by the children of the various departments of the Sunday School and by the choir were outstanding features of the evening.

As a fitting climax to the play in which the spirit of loving and giving predominated, the presentation of White Gifts was made by the Primary, Junior, Intermediate and Advanced departments of the Bible School. A very substantial offering was received.

Must Come To Full Stop At "Stop" Signs

Stop Signs May Be Erected On Country Roads Same As In City

Under the New Motor Code which becomes effective on January 1, through traffic stops may be designated on state highways in the country districts as well as in cities and drivers before entering or crossing such highways must come to a full stop, says Benjamin G. Eynon, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Pennsylvania Department of Highways. Mr. Eynon said:

"When such through traffic stops are fixed and designated by appropriate signs, drivers of vehicles about to enter main thoroughfares or arterial highways will be required to come to a full stop before entering or crossing such designated thoroughfares or through highways. The law requires the Secretary of Highways and the authorities of first, second and third class cities to erect signs designating thru traffic stops at the entrances of intersecting highways and these signs must bear the words 'Thru Traffic, Stop' in letters at least six inches in height and such signs shall be illuminated at night or so placed as to be illuminated by the headlights of an approaching vehicle or by street lights By legislative enactment the word 'through' is spelled 'Thru.'

"For example the Thru traffic stop means that if Front street, Harrisburg, is deignated as a through thoroughfare by the council and mayor of Harrisburg the drivers of motor vehicles approaching Front street from a side street which intersects it, must come to a full stop before entering or crossing this "Thru" traffic street. If Broad street, Philadelphia, should be designated as a "Thru" thoroughfare by the city of Philadelphia; or Bigelow Boulevard, Pittsburgh, should be designated as a "Thru" thoroughfare by the city of Pittsburgh, or the William Penn Highway designated as a "Thru" thoroughfare by the secretary of highways the same rule would obtain. This rule does not mean that the driver should merely slow down but that he must come to a full stop before entering the "Thru" thoroughfare or crossing it."

Former Fighter Is Held In Shooting And Robbery Charge

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. — Joe Tiplitz, a former boxer, and an alleged accomplice were arrested today after a chase of several blocks after Tiplitz was accused of shooting a woman during an attempted holdup.

The victim, Miss Bella Roth, 26, identified Tiplitz as one of two men who broke into her apartment and shot her three times during the attempted holdup. Miss Roth is in a critical condition in a hospital with bullet wounds in the chest.

Cabbage Prices Suffer Tumble

(International News Service)

CHILI, N. Y., Dec. 30.—With the largest acreage in many years yielding an enormous crop, the bottom has fallen out of the western New York cabbage market, with $3 and $4 per ton being offered by shippers and little prospect of a raise.

Positive in their belief that this year would be a good one, many farmers who had never raised cabbage before put in a large amount, while those who always raised it increased their plantings. Hundreds of tons have been stored in hope of higher prices and prospects are now that much of it will be used for fertilizer between now and spring.

New Fight For Women's Rights Will Be Waged

Equal Rights Amendment Sought By National Women's Party

OVERBURDENED BY OLD LAWS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—A new fight for "women's rights" will be started after the reconvening of congress.

The National Woman's Party, its officers said today, have completed preparations to put congress on record on a proposed equal rights amendment to the Federal Constitution.

Going after its objective with all the vigor of the suffrage campaign days, the organization has asked every member to pledge a vote for the amendment. A hearing has been promised by Senator Norris (R) of Nebraska, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Senator Curtis (R) of Kansas is expected to father the amendment which provides simply that "men and women shall have equal rights throughout the United States and every place subject to its jurisdiction."

Burdened By Laws

Women now are burdened by laws in some states which are patterned after the customs of the old world hundreds of years ago, spokesmen for the organization assert.

The amendment will be fought by many women's organizations, including women labor organizers who declare that women are now protected by laws enacted for their benefit alone. Should it be adopted, they assert, the eight-hour day for women, which is the law of many states, would be wiped out.

Mrs. Burnita Shelton Matthews, chairman of the legal research bureau of the Woman's Party, however, has set out many instances of alleged discrimination against women by state laws.

Ice creepers may be a darn nuisance, but they aint half as bothersome as a broken hip an' a big hospital bill!

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A SORRY THIEF

Peter was so surprised at what Blue Jay said that he tumbled back among the pillows again.

"Why, I never heard of anything so ridiculous," the boy gasped. "You mean to say that you wish me to go up to your nest to settle a family fight? How could I? And, besides, what on earth have I to do with it? What connection is there between my making a resolve that I would rise with the sun (which was a very foolish thing for me to say, for I was perfectly sure, now that I come to think about it, that I never will), and your children's squabbles?"

Blue Jay screamed like an angry cat bird.

"D'jay! D'jay! Why waste all this precious time, boy?" screeched he. "But, there, isn't it just like a two-legs to want to know all the whys and wherefores? Well, I suppose if I must tell you, I must. Do you know that my family has a bad reputation in Birdland? Well, it has, and, while some of my relatives are actually proud of the fact, I, for one, feel very bad about it. We are known as thieves, and it is all because we are fond of eggs and fresh meat."

"Pooh! That's nothing against you," declared the boy. "So are lots of other people. So am I, for instance."

"Yes, but it is the way we go about it that makes the birds hate us," replied Blue Jay, mournfully. "For eight or nine months in the year we earn an honest living. We work hard for our daily vegetables and hunt for harmful insects and snails and occasionally we go a-fishing.

"But, alas and alack! For some reason that I have never been able to understand, just as soon as the breeding season comes around we get tired of such simple fare, and develop a terrible appetite for eggs and meat. Mark you, no eggs will do but those of the other birds, and we consider a tender squad—so from Robin Red Breast's nest—a delicious dainty."

"Horror!" exclaimed Peter. "I should think that your poor neighbors would hate you. Why, you are a family of cannibals."

"Say no more!" groaned Blue Jay. "You are telling me nothing new, and you are making me most uncomfortable.

"To tell you the truth, when I was a young blade I made myself quite famous by the many eggs I brought home to the folks, and there was no young jay of us all that had such a lot of stolen squabs to his credit.

"But I am older and wiser now, and I see the folly of such plundering. It doesn't pay to get one's neighbors down on one. Why, we have to fairly fight our way through life. Everywhere we are pursued and picked at by angry birds who try in this way to avenge their wrongs."

"I am sure all this is very interesting," declared Peter, "but what has it to do with me?"

"D'jay! D'jay! Don't be in such a hurry!" scolded the fellow. "I am coming to that presently. As I was saying, I am a wise old bird now, but my sons and daughters are but just full grown, and this spring when the time comes for them to have homes of their own they will feel the same urge to fly forth and rob their neighbors.

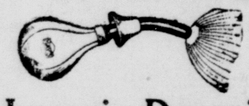

"In fact, right now they are boasting about what they are going to do. I haven't liked it at all, but I didn't know what to do about it until yesterday. You gave me an idea."

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—It would be interesting, if you had the time, to track down the origins of a story which has been going the rounds for the past year. For all I know, it may have its beginning in literature, but as it is passed around, it assumes the naive guise of a neighborhood legend, beginning thus: "We knew a woman in Dallas, years ago . . ." To proceed, it concerns a lady philanderer who was presented with a valuable ring, and who, finding the bauble difficult to explain to her husband, pawned it and pretended to have found the pawn ticket. With palpitating heart, sure of the success of her scheme, she awaited her spouse's homecoming with the jewel. He came boldly in and handed her a cheap do-funny which might have been bought at the ten-cent store, merrily chaffing her at the fall of her hopes. Then, later, the discomfited lady sees the ring on the hand of her husband's blondined secretary, and realizes that she is not the only cheater in the family . . . One of my editor friends tells me the piece has turned up in three separate guises, in fiction form, during the past year. And I have heard it myself, by word of mouth, cited as a matter of personal knowledge, from people in East Ely, Nevada; Houston, Texas, and Larchmont, New York. Occasionally the object varies. Sometimes the gift is a fur coat, instead of a ring. But always the narrator begins, with wide eyed breathlessness, "The funniest thing happened to a woman I know."

The girls in the tall mob-caps at certain tea shops have faces that match their ensembles, long skirted frocks of hunter's green. They all look fresh from the old sod . . . They have English beefsteak pie at these restaurants, but the crust is the best part of it. I can't hand the beefsteak much. I should like sometime to have an old-fashioned steak and kidney pie, of the American variety. It's too homely a dish for the finical, but I think there's nothing better, if it's properly made . . . I always feel a strong surge of sympathy for the big, strong chauffeur fellows who play nursemaid to Pekingese outside department stores, while their mistresses dawdle indoors from counter to counter . . . But the thing that really worries me is this, where do they get all the nice six-footers who sell stockings and silk purses in Madison avenue shops? They're too sweet for anything.

Yesterday a taxi-driver said to me: "I don't know why people take cabs in this (the Fifth avenue) traffic. They could get where they're going faster if they walked. Me," he announced disgustedly, "I'm going to buy me a shack in the country and get out of this town or I'll be in the funny house. I can't stand it much longer."

* * *

Sidelight on the manner in which the tabloids get their front page pictures: A photograph of Edward (Daddy) Browning appeared in the Mirror not long ago, showing Mons. Browning holding aloft in each hand a puny reporter. This scene was supposed to illustrate the strength the old gent had gained by eating raw food. My scout tells me that in reality men were hidden behind the suspended reporters, helping to bear the weight of them, and that Mr. Browning's part in the performance was merely that of a smiling conspirator.

Alice Rhinelander Seeks Seperation From Rich Husband

Suit For Separation Revives Once Famous Court Trial In New York State

Charges "Kip" With Abandonment And Cruelty; Asks $1,000 Alimony Monthly

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Mrs. Alice Jones Rhinelander has commenced suit for separation from her husband, Leonard Kip Rhinelander, it was learned today. The New York society man's colored wife alleges cruelty, inhuman treatment and abandonment in her summons and complaint.

Papers in the suit are on file at White Plains, N. Y., sheriffs of three counties in the metropolitan district have received a copy of the paper, but Rhinelander is believed to be in Louisiana and copies of the summons and complaint have been mailed to authorities there, in the event that the supreme court here grants Mrs. Rhinelander's appeal for privilege of service by publication.

Judge Samuel W. Swinburne, Mrs. Rhinelander's attorney, said she probably would seek alimony of $1,000 a month. She is now receiving $300 a month from Rhinelander.

The Rhinelanders were married in 1924. A month after the wedding "Kip" began an unsuccessful suit to annul the marriage. A jury at that time held that Rhinelander had not been deceived by his dusky bride and decided he knew all the time during his courtship that she was a mulatto.

Still Loves Kip

At the home of her father, a New Rochelle, N. Y., postman, Mrs. Rhinelander today declared she still loves her husband, but that a legal separation was inevitable.

"I love Leonard with all my heart," she admitted wistfully. "I will always love him. We are separated but stone walls cannot separate lovers and distance lends enchantment to the view."

Quite Coyly, then, Mrs. Rhinelander whispered a secret.

"Right here, in my own room, just back of a photograph of Leonard, there stands a vase filled with the most beautiful roses. He sent them to me on Christmas day and they are as fresh today as when I got them."

Then she revealed another secret:

"For more than two months I have been collecting material for a book that I am writing about my great experiences with Leonard," she said. "That is taking up all my time now and will keep me busy until I am ready to leave on my trip to Europe next summer."

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Dear ole Lunnon had very little on Lawrence county and the city of New Castle last night, if anything. The fog that hung over the county was as thick as split pea soup and made driving something more than an evening's pleasure.

Due to some atmospheric phenomena the fog was in spots but in those spots it was "turrible". Between County Line street and the public square on Washington street there was none at all, but east and west of those points it hung like a pall over the streets. South Mill street was especially bad.

Headlights were practically useless and lights coming against one looked like two ghostly signals until they were almost upon you.

This colyum has been the recipient of many queer letters, but not until today has it been asked to act as a matrimonial agency. A young man from the east side writes in and asks me to get him a wife, to quote his own words, "one who can keep good housekeeping" but he doesn't specify light or dark, thin or stout, young or old. However any eligible young ladies who care to investigate can get further particulars if they wish.

The Cub has been more or less quiescent in the past few weeks. Not a "pome" for a long time but the germ has been working. It brought forth the following lament which you might give a look:

Lament Journalistici.

The girl I loved was you
Our souls, I thought, were one
Each to the other turning
As flowers to the sun.

But love and flowers die
From me you turned away
And love, I learned, like flowers
Must fix its roots in clay.

With only one more day left on the calendar in the kitchen, it behooves one to stir around and get a couple of the date reminders. Stores don't seem to give out calendars like they once did. When you and I were kids remember how we used to make the rounds. Anything from a small jewelry store calendar to one in which the figures were a couple of inches high. The rooms of the house looked like a bill board, and the mothers got gray early trying to find room for them all.

Collegiate Flivver Legislated Out

New State Auto Code To Eliminate Many Markings On Automobiles

The collegiate flivver has sung its swan song, for, aside from being barred from the road, it is not permissible to place on any car any cards, plates, lettering or markings of a rather vulgar nature, says Bernard N. Hanlon manager of the New Castle Motor club.

"Although I hate to see the colegiate can go from the road," comments Mr. Hanlon, "yet I can see that under the new highway code effective the first of January, it must go.

"And although with the barring of obscene signs, there is another provision in the code which makes it illegal to operate any motor vehicle with any signs on the windshield, side wings or on the side or rear windows This also applies to the transparent figures of bathing girls, handsome young cavaliers and their like.

"Tourists, who in many cases are the worst offenders when it comes to signs on their cars must also remember that the law makes it illegal to carry a load extending beyond the fender line of the left side of the car and six inches beyond the fender line on the right side of the car."

Atterbury Asserts Business Prosperity Will Be Continued

Outlook For 1928 Is Most Bright Says Pennsylvania Railroad President

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 30. — Business prosperity, which has been marked throughout the last year, will continue in 1928, according to the prediction today of General W. W. Atterbury, head of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

In a statement issued today he referred particularly to the railway outlook for the coming year, and said that the railroads are operating with great confidence.

Railroad service is better than it ever was, General Atterbury said, and the people of the United States want this to be continued. Railroad investors are inclined to furnish more capital for the expansion and improvement of the service, he added.

"The outlook is bright. Railroad officers and owners feel the support of a constructive public opinion. Regulating authorities reflect that sentiment. The railroads and their owners are ready to go forward with the advancement of American business and welfare generally."

CLASS MEETING

The Sabbath school class of the Mahoning Presbyterian church, taught by Mrs. F. W. Guy, had their monthly class meeting at the home of Mrs. Guy on Liberty street Thursday evening. Thirteen class members were present. During the evening a business meeting was conducted. A nominating committee was appointed by the president. This committee is comprised of Mrs. H. W. Swisher, Mrs. F. Pitzer and Mrs. G. O. Scheidemantle.

Following the business meeting a social time was enjoyed with chat. At a later hour delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Guy, assisted by Miss Margaret Guy. Christmas colors prevailed in table decorations and favors were green baskets filled with candy.

MAHONING BOOK CLUB

Mrs. A. R. Mornes of West Clayton street was hostess to the Mahoning Book Club in her home Thursday afternoon. There was a good attendance of club members present and Miss Maude Fisher was a special guest. During the afternoon the hours were spent socially with chat and the exchange of books. A feature of the afternoon were musical selections on the piano and violin by Mrs. Mornes' nieces, Mildred and Jean Jackson. At a seasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Mornes, assisted by her nieces.

In two weeks the club will be entertained at the home of Mrs. M. L. Wallace on Highland avenue.

Blames Headlights Of Approaching Car For Fatal Accident

Saltsburg Motorist Says He Was Blinded By Headlights, Man Is Killed

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30. — Leonard Palmer, 30, of Saltsburg, held for court in connection with the death of Frank Wetzel, 48, of Slickville, today blamed the lights of an approaching machine for the accident resulting in Wetzels death. Palmer claims he was blinded by the lights and was unable to see Wetzel and avoid striking him.

Follow Clues In Death Of Trooper, Arrest Looming

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—The slayer of State Trooper John J. Downey, of Norristown, may be apprehended within the next few days, it was learned at State Police Barracks here today.

A good description of the man who shot down the state trooper while he and other officers were dispersing a crowd of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers near Cheswick on August 22, last, is in the hands of police.

The slayer was believed to have been cornered in East Pittsburgh last night, but when Corporal George Pierce went there to view the suspect it was found he was not the man wanted.

Downey's comrades are working on other clues which they hope will result in an arrest soon.

Ezra Meeker, 97, Gets Greetings From Senators

Receives 97 Silver Half Dollars Of Oregon Trail Coinage

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Ezra Meeker, who traveled the Oregon trail in 1852 by ox team at a two-mile-an-hour speed and lived to make the trek by airplane at 102 miles an hour, celebrated his 97th birthday Thursday.

Among the many felicitation he received was one signed by 36 United States senators and a number of representatives. Officials of the Oregon Trail Memorial Association, of which he is president, presented him with 97 silver half dollars of the limited Oregon trail coinage.

"People of today are advancing intellectually but they ride too much for their health," Meeker told interviewers. "I owe my own good condition to plenty of exercise, temperate eating, and abstention from alcohol."

PROVIDE ICE CREAM.

Due to the kindness of the A. B. D. Girls of the First Presbyterian church and the Daughters of Lydia of the same church the inmates of the Lawrence County Home were treated to ice cream and cake on Christmas day. The ice cream was furnished by the former organization and the cake by the latter.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Something that is seldom seen in this day and age is a horse and wagon on Washington street, but one was seen this morning, and not only was it seen, but it was being held up by a traffic light. The horse was old, its ribs stuck out and there was a wistful look in its eyes. Probably it was ruminating over the days when traffic lights were not dreamed of; days when people shrieked derisively at the drivers of "go devily" to "get a horse."

VIGNETTES — Autos careening madly down South Mill street in a dank and wet night....Barely missing getting under the wire as a switching engine comes over the crossing....Mammoth boilers standing on the ways at the East Side station, soon to be used to heat the new Jameson hospital....The Newsie's dinner is not far away, and won't you help make it successful, particularly if you can sing or dance?....A tall man walking up the street, the same man that sat in the court room a few weeks ago wiggling his walrus mustache every time a point was brought out by the prosecution....Groan of auto horns....Clang of street car bells....It is New Castle.

What can I do for New Castle's advancement in 1928. This is a good resolution for all of us to ponder over as the new year approaches.

As Pa Newc was engaged in the work of putting the license tags on his auto for the new year, he was given to wondering what becomes of all of the old tags. Probably they just pile up around the garages. How many have you got? What has the oldest tags? Do you know of any unusual use that is being made of the old license plates? Tell Pa Newc about it.

Those residents who placed ashes on the ice on the sidewalks at their premises should see that the ashes are cleaned off now. The walks are anything but attractive with a coating of ashes, after the ice and snow have melted away.

Visit of Congressman Swick to the New Castle postoffice has again centered on the great need that exists for a new postoffice or an enlargement of the present one in this city. While the need has been known for years, and at several times it has appeared that the plans were about to be carried into effect to provide the improvement, each time something has failed to materialize at Washington which would allow the improvement to be made. It is the hope of postal officials and New Castle citizens that the present congress will clear the way so that the work can actually be done.

SIEGE OF BOILS SUICIDE CAUSE

(International News Service)

COATESVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30. — A siege of boils drove Thomas Cloud, of Springdell, to suicide, authorities claim.

Plagued by a number of boils on his neck, Cloud finally hid himself in a neighbor's barn and shot himself to death. He explained his act in a note found by his body.

MORE LAND IS PURCHASED FOR PYMATUNING

State Water Board Adds 450 Acres In Crawford County To Holdings

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—Purchase of 480 acres of additional land in connection with the Pymatuning swamp development was approved, late Wednesday, by the water and power resources board. This land, in six tracts, is in Crawford county.

The purchase brings the total spent by the board for land since June 1 last to approximately $200,000, Charles E. Ryder, secretary, said. The 1927 legislature appropriated $350,000 for this development, which is to control the flood waters of the Shenango river and insure a water supply to municipalities obtaining water from that source.

Two Arrested In Connection With Railroad Wreck

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Two men arrested in connection with the derailment of the fast New York flyer on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad December 11, at Guffey, near McKeesport, were to be taken to Pittsburgh today and turned over to railroad authorities for questioning. A baggageman was killed and several passengers were injured in the wreck. Police here said the suspects were John Witt, alias John White, Rochester, N. Y., and Joe Copsi, alias Guiseppe Comincini, Matewan, N. J.

Stockman Receives Porto Rico Paper

Issue Commemorates Events Transpiring On Island Back In 1898

H. Clare Stockman, assistant chief of the fire department, has just received from Bert Stevenson, former resident of this city, and for many years, a resident of Porto Rico, the November issue of "Puerto Rico Ilustrado," an illustrated publication in the Spanish language and published in San Juan, Porto Rico.

It is of more than passing interest to Chief Stockman, as well as other Spanish American War veterans of this city, for the reason that included in the illustrations are a number of a recent celebration held there in commemoration of happenings of 1898 in Porto Rico.

Among the pictures are those of the parade held in Connection with the unveiling of monuments and also scenes at the unveiling of these monuments to the members of the Sixteenth Regiment, who died in the Battle of Coamo during the occupation of the island by the United States forces. Company B, which was organized here.

In one of the scenes pictured, Colonel Angel Rivero, who surrendered the city of San Juan to the American forces, is shown holding an American flag high in the air. He is now an American citizen.

The publication is finely illustrated and on a par with many publications of this country.

Public Institutions Fare Well By Will Of Youngstown Man

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30.—Joseph G. Butler, Jr., who died December 19, left the bulk of his estate, worth $2,000,000 to public institutions, principally the Butler Art Gallery, which he built and endowed.

He provides that $100,000 be added to the endowment of the institute, and suggests the balance be used for an improvement program. He suggests an auditorium, capable of seating 1,500 people, be built. His will bequeathed $1,000,000 to his son, Henry A. Butler; $50,000 to Mrs. Arthur McGraw, Detroit, a daughter; $100,000 as an endowment fund for the national McKinley birthplace at Niles, which he was instrumental in building.

He left W. H. Wulf his secretary $5,000. Many other bequests were made to friends and relatives.

James W. Butler, a brother, of Cleveland, was given $2,000, a residence and an income of $100 per month for life.

Ambridge Bridge Officially Opened

Judge Late Because Relatives Went To Card Party In His Car

AMBRIDGE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Ten thousand residents of Woodlawn and Ambridge jostled each other good-naturedly yesterday afternoon on the new $570,648 bridge over the Ohio river betwen the two boroughs and waited restlessly for Judge William A. McConnell of Beaver county court to come and officially receive for the people the big steel span, the gift of the county commissioners.

Others waited too. For. in the words of Burgess Charles Straube of Ambridge the "spiris of those of the Harmony Society and Economites above wondered at the great span across the river that the Indians once crossed in birch bark canoes."

But in his home at Beaver Judge McConnell was hunting for his automobile. It was close to the ceremony time when he discovered his relatives had rolled away to a card party in it. And a bridge and a holiday crowd awaited his formal acceptance. He got a car eventually.

In the meantime as he rolled swiftly toward the bridge which has been in use for some weeks Judge Frank Reader of Beaver county officially accepted the span in place of his colleague.

Says Wife Scoffs At His Religion, Seeking Divorce

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 30. — Claiming his wife reviled him because he went to church, made fun of his religious views, refused to permit their children to take part in family worship and subjected him to other indignities, Ellsworth Wade, aged 44, of Canton township, today filed a suit for divorce against his wife, Dora L. Wade, aged 40.

Wade says he was confined to one room on the second floor, where he was forced to entertain his friends and that she refused to prepare his meals.

"You may praise the Lord, but when I die I don't want you to look on me or go to my funeral," Wade alleges she said while he was singing the hymn, "Praise the Lord."

600 Hunters Chase Two Foxes To Cover

400 Chester County Club Riders And 100 Hounds Pursue Reynards

WEST CHESTER, Dec. 30.—More than 200 riders, with about 400 men on foot, participated in a double drop fox chase given by the members of the Boot Hunt Club at the home of the master of hounds, James F. Barry, at Boot, three miles north of town.

Following a hunt breakfast, served under the direction of Mrs. Barry and wives of the members of the club, which included about 400 mince and pumpkin pies, hot coffee and doughnuts, the first fox was released by Miss Evaline Wilson in a field near the Barry home. It was a large red male and led the hunters and about 100 hounds a merry chase for two hours and was finally driven to cover in a woods at "Greystone" the large estate of P. M. Sharples.

The second fox was started in the Hoopes Brothers and Thomas nursery and after making many circles over the country, was holed on the Sullivan farm near Sugartown.

The hunt today which marked the first large event of the year was participated in by the Whiteland, Boot, Howard Stewart and Baldwin Clubs, together with the combined pack of hounds.

Another drop chase will occur next Monday at the home of Evart Green, near Green Hill, the same clubs participating.

Have Hopes Of Getting Land In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Dec. 30.—"When the lease expires—"

Thus runs the dreams of five residents here who claim direct descent from Colonel Jacob Baker, inspired by hope that fates may decree they are rightful owners of approximately 5,000 acres of land in the heart of Philadelphia.

They are Mrs. W. L. Olinger, Mrs. E. E. Kearick, Mrs. Emma Knabb, W. L. Matson and A. C. Matson.

Colonel Baker, a member of the staff of George Washington, appears to have leased the acreage to the City of Philadelphia for 99 years. This lease is about to expire and the land is said to have an appraised value of $900,000,000 in round numbers.

Claims have been filed by the five seeking to share in the proceeds of the estate.

Carload Of "Steel" Proves To Be Beer

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 30.—A carload of steel consigned to the Nickel Plate Iron Company turned to beer when Sergeant Bergen and a squad of Nickel Plate police swooped down on a group of men while they were unloading the cargo in the yards. The officers arrested four men and seized 87 barrels of beer.

Sheep-Raiding Bears Pester N. Y. Farmers

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Dec. 30.—Adirondack farmers particularly those of Essex county are protesting against the protection which bears enjoy for eleven months of the year. Manw woodsmen contend bears should not be protected at all as they never were near extermination in these mountains.

In Essex county the tribe of bruin has flourished under protection to such an extent that those animals are a constant menace to sheep flocks and are regarded as a nuisance. In one of the most conspicuous examples of havoc caused by bears raiding sheep pens the owner lost eight ewes and one ram valued at $90.

Only a few years ago Essex county was paying a bounty for each bear killed. Bears did not den up this year until a short time ago because of the unusually mild weather.

The present wholesale price of elephant tusks is about $10,000 a ton.

Will Swear In New Councilmen

Grove City Council To Organize For Year On Monday; Other News Of Town

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, Pa., Dec. 30.—The regular monthly meeting of the Grove City council will be held in the council rooms Monday, January 2. The meeting will be the reorganization meeting at which time four recently elected councilmen will be sworn in. One new councilman was elected, C. Slater, and three old councilmen were re-elected at the recent elections, Norman Milliner, H. T. Jones and C. C. Black. Two new council officers will be elected, president for two years and secretary one year. The following heads of departments will be elected: Boro superintendent, 1 year; electric superintendent, 1 year; chief of police, 1 year, and city solicitor, 4 years. Besides the reorganization the regular business will be carried on.

Dr. Weir C. Ketler, president of Grove City college, was a business caller in Pittsburgh Wednesday.

Four students of Grove City college, two delegates of the Y. W. C. A. and two of the Y. M. C. A. are attending the student volunteer convention which is being held in Detroit from December 28 to January 1. The convention will be very interesting and educational to the delegates and a very interesting instructive report is expected from the delegates. The speakers who are scheduled to appear at this convention include some of the leaders in the missionary field, especially in the far east. Some of them are Francis Wei, a Chinese educator and the president of Central China Christian university; John R. Mott, chairman of the International Missionary council; Mordecia Johnson, president of Howard university; Robert E. Spear, moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, and Sherwood Eddy, formerly a missionary in India.

Coach Joe Hartman has his high school basketball squad out every day this week, allowing his boys no chance to get out of condition. Hartman is drilling the team in preparation for the contest with Harrisville this Friday on the local floor. Harrisville has a strong team this year. They are led by Captain Garlow, who is a real star and a dead shot. The starting lineup will probably be the same that started against New Castle with Smith and Briggs at forward, Klink, center, Forker and Dunn guards.

England's Oldest Living Twins In Good Health At 93

(International News Service)

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Dec. 30.—Born in April 1834, Mrs. Jemina Clarke and Mrs. Keziah Stubley claim to be the oldest living twins in England.

Save that Jemina, who preceded Keziah into the world by half an hour, has lost her sight, both are in good health and are hoping to complete the seven years more of their century together.

The fortunes of the two sisters have not been identical. Mrs. Clarke has had no children. Mrs. Stubley has had ten, of whom six are living, the oldest being a man of seventy. She has fourteen grand-children and eight great-grand-children.

The twins think the world has become a better place to live in during their ninety-three years, and express pleasure at the fact that the modern girl is more independent than the girls were in their young days.

"I admit we are a little shocked when we see such short frocks," said Mrs. Stubley, "but that is only because things were so different when we were young."

Druse Rebel Leader Awaits New Chance As Wahabi's Guest

(International News Service)

JERUSALEM, Dec. 30.—Another "war lord" is taking to cultivating a small patch of land while biding his time to strike a fresh blow.

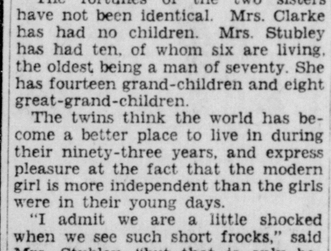

Banished from his native land, his tribal army reduced to a handful of loyal followers and relatives, Sultan Atrash, the vanquished leader of the Druse rebels, has accepted an offer of a 75-acre farm near Amman, the Transjordan capital.

Atrash has been a fugitive in Transjordan territory ever since the French conquered the Druse mountain and forced most of the tribe to surrender. He and a few diehards, over whom hangs a death sentence passed in their absence by a French court martial, have been living on the border of the desert at a place called Kiryat Meleh.

Some of the rebels have accepted hospitality at Hedjaz in central Arabia extended by the Wahabi king. Atrash himself, wishing to remain as near as possible to the seat of his departed glory, preferred Transjordan where a farm has been placed at his disposal by Emir Abdullah, the ruler of this territory.

Atrash may be trusted to keep his eye on developments in the mountain of the Druse. He has declared that he regards his exile as temporary, and that the farming will give him a breathing spell to make plans for a fresh insurrection against the French, which he hopes will engulf all provinces in Syria.

He is opposed to the partition between Jebel Druse and the rest of Syria which he says the French are erecting in order the better to rule both.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

Author Falls Down Well In "Discovery"

RUSHVILLE, Ill., Dec. 30.—T. E. Muselman, author ond ornithologist of Quincy who has found himself in many queer places in his studies of bird life had a new experience when a sidewalk here gave way depositing him in an abandoned well.

Mr. Musselman here visiting relatives was walking down the street with is daughter. Suddenly the sidewalk vanished beneath him.

His daughter's cries brought help and he was pulled from the shaft. The oldest residents cannot recall that a well was located at the point of cavein.

Find Old Church Resembling Temple

LONDON, Dec. 30.—An ancient church believed to have been a Roman Temple has been discovered by Lord Dynevor at his Carmathenshire seat, Dynevor Park.

The removal of a thick growth of ivy from the south wall of the family church revealed a pointed arche doorway. This led into an apartment built like a cell. The topmost of a flight of five stone steps in the apartment reaches the floor of the present church.

It is on record that in 1800 when the churchyard was being levelled, the walls of a Roman building were found .

FACE BROKE OUT WITH PIMPLES

Large, Red and Very Hard. Cuticura Healed.

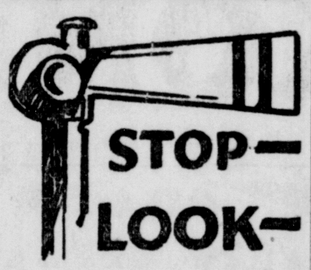

"My face broke out with pimples. They were large, red and very hard, and were scattered all over my face. They itched constantly and prevented me from sleeping. My face was so disfigured that I was almost ashamed to go out with my friends.

"I tried different remedies without success. I had them about a month when a friend suggested that I try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I purchased some and in about a week the pimples began to disappear. After using them three weeks my face was healed." (Signed) Miss Molly Miller, R. 2, Box 76, Warwick, N. Y., Feb. 14, 1927.

Weather Proverbs Mostly Misleading U. S. Expert Shows

(International News Service)

DES MOINES, Dec. 30.—Weather proverbs based on experiences and memory are in most instances misleading according to Chas. D. Reed government meteorologist here.

Weather according to Reed has held the attention of the people of the earth for centuries. Mankind always has attempted to peer into the future and the desire to foretell approaching climatic and atmospheric conditions has held the greatest interest. From the early days proverbs and epigrams, founded on the action of animals, the appearance of the sky or the planets and the growth of plants have been with us. Some of these sayings date back to the Babylonian days.

The authenticity of these proverbs however is at all times doubtful according to Reed unless they are backed up by accurate records over a long span of years. Memory is faulty and particularly so when weather in past years is concerned. Then, too, "signs" that may hold good in the New England states aren't worth consideration in the middlewest and vice versa.

Back in 1903 the United States weather bureau published a booklet on weather folklore and local weather signs but after comparing these predictions with 38 years of actual conditions in Iowa Reed has come to the conclusion that virtually no prediction is better than a 50-50 guess.

The predictions he says, may hold good in some places but not in Iowa. Of the hundred sayings only one is close enough to serve as a guide in the cold belt. It reads: "A cold and wet June spoils the rest of the year."

This in a measure holds good in Iowa, for a cold June here is followed by a three-month period averaging below normal in temperature 71 per cent of the time while a warm June is followed by a warm three-months period 78 per cent of the time.

"This calculation is based on figures compiled for many years and gathered from 110 sub-weather stations scattered over the state," Reed said. "It is one proverb that works for Iowa but it may not work elsewhere. Weather can't be figured except by mathematics. Impressions don't go."

Shah Urges People Of Persia To Adopt Modern Fashions

(International News Service)

TEHERAN, Dec. 30.—Strained relations between Persia and Turkey do not prevent Riza Khan, the new Persian Shah, from following in the footsteps of Kemal Pasha, the Ghazi of Turkey, in bringing the new social order to Iran.

After centuries of social exclusion, women of Persia are now beginning to play an important part in public affairs. Five magazines devoted solely to women's interests are published in Persia, and there is an incessant appeal for Persian women to emulate the examples of their western sister in appearance and manners.

Latest fashions, including bobbed hair, and other expressions of woman's modernity such as the public use of lipstick and rouge, are assiduously followed.

Women frequent the motion pictures and the theatres, with the horror first written on the faces of the male on beholding the unveiled woman gradually giving way to more or less good-natured understanding.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

London City Council Orders Destruction Of 2,000 Pigeons

(International News Service)

LONDON, Dec. 30.—A drive has been started by the London City Council to thin out the number of pigeons which for so many years have fluttered about the courtyard of St. Paul's Cathedral and other places in this city.

The drive was begun because, the authorities allege, the pigeons have become far too numerous, and have done considerable damage by defacing the walls of buildings.

Birds that perhaps have stood on the shoulders of kings and eaten from the hands of princesses will be swept away with others of less marked distinction, for the City Council has decreed that 2,000 pigeons must be destroyed. The aristocracy of the neighborhood will suffer with the rest.

Pigeon-lovers have offered to adopt the offending birds to save them from death, but this was deemed impracticable. Even if taken 100 miles from London, they would fly back again to their nesting places and alight on the shoulder of some newfound friend on the steps of the Royal Exchange.

So numerous have the pigeons become that they have taken apartments in the cell windows of the Old Bailey prison, and wire netting has had to be put up. Eggs have hatched, and many little pigeons have been born in prison.

Love In This Case Is Blind, In Fact

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—To Edwin Harris, clerk of the Lackawanna county courts, love is blind, in fact.

Harris a veteran of the World war lost his eyesight when he was gassed while fighting with the Twenty-fifth division.

Undiscouraged by his handicap, he entered politics upon his return home and was nominated and elected clerk of courts. His re-election on both main party tickets came two years ago.

A few years ago Harris met Miss Varna Harris nurse in the court house. He wooed her, won her and last week married her. They are on their honeymoon.

Standing by his army rating as bugler, Harris has sounded "taps" at the funeral of nearly every war veteran who has died in this region.

A novel which is holding the attention of the reading public in Japan has been running serially for 12 years and is not yet completed.

Present Prosperity Permanent Condition Revealed By Analysis

Says Present Era Of Economic Stability Not Merely Phase Of Old Cycle

E. Dana Durand, Chief Statistical Research Head, Gives Out Interview

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—The present era of economic stability and prosperity is not merely a phase in the old industrial cycle but rather a permanent condition achieved by steady development of both mechanical and human efficiency. Founded upon such a basis, the present prosperity might be continued indefinitely. The misgivings of some business men and financiers that there must eventually be a reaction from the long period of economic well being in the United States since the war are born of misconceptions as to the nature of our recent industrial development.

Completes Analysis.

This is the conclusion of a New Years analysis of present-day industrial America by E. Dana Durand, chief of the division of statistical research in the department of commerce.

"There is no reason to anticipate any continuing recession from the present general productivity of industry. On the contrary there is much reason to believe that progressively higher levels will be attained," he said.

To demonstrate the solidity of the foundation upholding the present business structure, Durand cited that in the quarter century ending with 1925 output of various branches increased as follows:

Agriculture 47 per cent, mining 248 per cent, manufacturers 178 per cent, transportation volume 199 per cent.

During the same period the population of the country expanded only 55 per cent.

The combined output in goods and services in the same industries increased 20 per cent between 1919 and 1925, a period which saw an increase of only 10 per cent in the population of the country.

The average output per worker increased 39 per cent during the short interval.

Specific Causes.

"The causes which have made for the rapid advance in American industry are fortunately of an enduring and cumulative character," he said. "The idea that our present high prosperity is the result of the world war is wholly without foundation. The war cut down the efficiency of our industry besides wasting an important fraction of its product.

"Principal factors of the recent increase in productivity are what may be called human, as distinguished from natural, factors. These basic causes of economic progress translate themselves into a number of more specific and directly working causes.

APPRECIATION

Too infrequently do we stop to think of and appreciate men who make great contributions to human welfare and then pass on to the forgetfulness of death. Thousands hurry to Florida and the West Indies every winter and little remember Dr. William Gorgas who freed a great area of malaria and yellow fever. It has been said that the work Gorgas did in eradicating yellow fever in the canal zone entitled him to rank with Washington and Lincoln as great Americans. Travel to the far south would have been immeasurably retarded if it had not been for the work of Gorgas. Some men earn the reward of remembrance.

PLENTY OF ROOM

Mathematicians, philosophers, and scientists startle us from time to time by their stories of the rapid increase in the earth's population. But we in America need not begin worrying for some few years. Great Britain has an area of 95,000 square miles with a population of 42,000,000. Italy has an area of only 18,000 square miles with a population of 38,000,000. Please note that the state of California has an area of 158,000 square miles and a population of between four and five millions.

While Great Britain could not live without outside help in the way of food, California could raise enough food to feed a population three times the size of Great Britain's.

Texas which is vastly bigger than California could come closer to feeding the United States if the land was irrigated in the manner that it some day will be.

GOOD OLD DAYS?

While Sons and Daughters of the Revolution are harking back to the so-called good old days, let us remember that in the early hours of the republic all was not plain living and high thinking. In 1786, right after the close of the revolution, New England was a close second to England in number of ships in the slave trade. Slave ships from Salem, Boston, New Bedford, Newport, and other coast towns were dealing richly in the traffic of human cargoes. And during the three centuries preceding that time it is said that more than 50 million negroes, purchased or stolen in Africa, were sold into slavery in various parts of the world.

The history of these three centuries is not American history alone but is the history of other supposedly civilized countries. If we were to go back to these "good old days" we would, in some respects, be going back to barbarism.

FAR-OFF RESULTS

John Ruskin, one of the wisest writers of the nineteenth century, once said: "To do as much as you can heartily and happily each day in a well-determined direction, with a view to far-off results, with present enjoyment of one's work, is the only proper, the only essentially profitable way."

How much larger and mightier in mind and soul we should become if we had the vision to keep our eyes not on the petty satisfactions of the moment but on "far-off results!"

Man Safer In Mines Than On Highways

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Although Cchuylkill county has about 60,000 mine workers, statistics of County Coroner Santee indicate that it is safer in the mines these days than on the highways. The coroner investigated 1,000 violent deaths during his four year term which ends on December 31. During this time 152 men were killed in the mines of the county while automobile accidents accounted for 155 fatalities during the same period.

When the old-time business man took a nap he was asleep instead of in conference.

Remarkable Record Ends With Retirement

BELFAST, Ireland, Dec. 30.—Sixty-three years with one firm without missing a single working day is the remarkable record of William Patterson, who retired yesterday from his employment in the yarn mills at Carrickfergus, ancestral home town of Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States.

Even when suffering from a broken arm Patterson attended to his work.

Coughs Stopped Almost Instantly

A New, Safe Prescription

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine relieves the most stubborn coughs that otherwise might hang on for weeks. Acts on new theory, relieves the inflammation and irritation which is almost always the cause of the cough,—stops it like magic. Thoxine is equally good for sore throat, for which purpose it is far superior to gargles. Contains no dope, chloroform or other harmful drugs. Once used you will never be without it. Pleasant tasting, easy to take and safe for the whole family. Remember one swallow stops night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. 35c., 60c. and $1.00. Sold by Love & Megown and all good drug stores.

Install Officers In Kiwanis Club

Dr. T. B. Magee Assumes Office As President Of Ellwood Club

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—Members of the Kiwanis Club enjoyed a most delicious dinner in the First Methodist church dining room Thursday evening at six o'clock. Regular business was transacted and the new officers for the ensuing year were installed as follows: president, Dr. T. B. Magee; vice president, Charles Carbeau; treasurer, G. Blaine Hancher; district trustee, W. Ray Smith.

Following the business meeting was the exchange of the "white elephant" gifts, which proved great fun, as some were very ludicrous. Two violin solos were rendered by Glenn Singlaub.

Postpone Meeting Of Girl Scouts To Monday, January 9

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 30.—The three Girl Scout troops, Bernice Wilson, Nightingale and the Bobalink, which meet in the Hartman school each Monday evening, will not have a meeting until Monday evening Jan. 9. At this date a joint meeting of all the Girl Scout troops will be held, with Miss Adelaide Werner of Pittsburgh, regional director, as a guest. A special program from the various troops is being planned for the occasion.

Shelby Social Club Plans Dance Series

Will Declare War On State's Careless Hunters

By JOSEPH SUMMER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Dec. 30.—The Pennsylvania state game commission will declare war on the careless hunter at the next meeting of the commission in Harrisburg January 6, according to Dr. H. J. Donaldson, president.

Four major remedies have been proposed to reduce the appalling number of fatal and non-fatal hunting accidents, Dr. Donaldson said. These include:

1. Adoption of a uniform hunting garment, preferably red.
2. Shortening of the legal gun range.
3. Lengthening of the hunting season to avoid early season crowds.
4. State examination and licensing of hunters.

"The careless hunter presents the biggest problem the commission will be called on to consider," Dr. Donaldson said.

"By far the greater number of accidents are caused by careless handling of guns. The majority of those accidents occur while the hunting party is enroute to the field or woods, or while in places of habitation.

"My personal opinion is that the state should legislate to the end that anybody carrying a loaded gun in an automobile, home or public gathering place, such as a railroad station, should be declared guilty of a misdemeanor.

"This would not solve the problem," Dr. Donaldson conceded, "but it would materially reduce the number of gun accidents during the game season."

The adoption of a uniform hunting garment, many hunters declare, would aid greatly in cutting down accidents. It has been proposed that this garment be of red from cap to shoetops.

The proposal that the legal game season be lengthened is based on the theory that a longer season would lessen the number of hunters who take to the woods the first few days of the season. It is during this first "rush week" that a large percentage of the accidents occur.

Dr. Donaldson said he expected the commission to make definite recommendations to reduce hunting accidents at the 1928 sessions.

Washington Man Is Elected Chairman Of Commerce Board

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The Interstate Commerce Commission today elected Johnson B. Campbell of Spokane, Wash., as chairman for 1928. He was appointed a member in 1921, and was reappointed by President Coolidge for a term of seven years, expiring December 31, 1931.

PICTURE AND ACTS PLEASE IN CAPITOL THEATRE

Picture and acts alike are good in the Capitol Theatre these last three days of the week and the year. For the screen attraction Lois Wilson and George K. Arthur are seen in the screen version of that wonderful old time musical comedy, "The Gingham Girl" and the two young stars have lifted the picture from a light comedy to a real screen laughing epic.

The Ranzalls, three Wyoming folks have a shooting act that requires chilled steel nerves and an unerring eye. It is beyond the ordinary shooting act for some of the feats seem almost impossible.

Pitzer and Downey have a Civil War veterans act that brings a flock of chuckles and the Mitzie Dancers complete the show. This act consists of five girls and a man every one a clever hoofer.

Saturday night the Midnight Show goes on at 11:20 and seats are being reserved now. The picture will be "A Hero For A Night", and for the vaudeville the management has secured six clever acts with a Master of Ceremonies.

Many Prisoners Given Sentence

Judge R. L. Hildebrand Disposes Of Cases Completed In Recent Term

PRISON SENTENCES GIVEN OFFENDERS

Sentences were passed by Judge R. L. Hildebrand in Lawrence County court, this morning upon prisoners who had been convicted or who have pleaded guilty since the opening of December term of court. The court room was well filled with friends of those who were to come up for sentence and spectators. Judge Hildebrand exercised great care in getting all the facts connected with cases before passing sentence. Sentences were as follows:

John Bolan, possessing liquor, $200 and costs and six months to the workhouse.

George Ohlin, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, $200 and costs and two months to the county jail.

Thomas Johnson, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and 45 days to the county jail.

Joe Gardner, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and three months to the county jail.

Peter Santangelo, possessing liquor, $200 fine and costs and six months to the workhouse.

Mike Juzewczyk, possessing liquor, paroled for two years upon the payment of $100 fine and costs.

L. Garson, assault and battery, $100 fine and costs.

Guy Cano, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and four months to workhouse.

Angelo Vigireto, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and four months to workhouse.

Mrs. Louise Smealowski, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and three months to the county jail.

Olivia Johnston, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and thirty days to the county jail, to date from Nov. 30. She had been paroled at a former term but was unable to pay her fine.

Frank Di Vitto, possessing liquor, $100 and costs and one year to the workhouse. There were four charges against Di Vitto. He was given the same on each the sentences to run concurrently.

Jack De Garmo, possessing liquor, paroled for two years upon the payment of $100 fine and costs.

C. A. Wiseman, operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, $200 fine and costs and two months to the county jail, to be released in ten days if the fine and costs are paid. Wiseman's case presented a hard problem for the judge. Facts surrounding the case showed that he is a good citizen and had never been in any trouble before. He admitted that he had made a mistake in taking a couple of drinks and signified his willingness to swear off from liquor forever. His wife died about a year ago and he has one child about four years old to look after. His car had not done any damage. He was arrested at Wampum by a state policeman. Judge Hildebrand said that personally he felt sorry for Wiseman and believed him when he said that he would never touch liquor again, but that as a judge he had a duty to perform toward the public. He then dwelt upon the menace any man is to the automobiles on the road, when a man attempts to drive a machine while under the influence of liquor.

Lewis Lorenzo, possessing liquor, $100 fine and costs and one year to the workhouse.

Several convicted at the present term of court were not sentenced owing to applications having been made for new trials.

Commissioners To Inspect Prisons In Pennsylvania

(International News Service)

Deadline For New License Tags Near

After Midnight Saturday, No Old 1927 Tags May Be Used, Hanlon Warns

Motorists who do not have their new 1928 license plates on their cars by midnight Saturday, are just going to be "out of luck," declares Bernard N. Hanlon, manager of the New Castle Motor club in an interview this morning.

"As I understand it," Mr. Hanlon went on, "there are yet about 500,000 motorists in the state of Pennsylvania who have not received their license plates. When the Department of Highways started their early license campaign in the fall, they thought that it would be possible for all licenses to be issued by the first of the new year, but with 500,000 still remaining to be mailed out, this becomes a physical impossibility, and it is not the fault of the highway department. They tried to get the people to send their applications in early, but all to no avail. Citizens procrastinated, and the result is the congestion at this late hour.

"There will be no extension of time, whereby motorists may run during the new year on 1927 tags. Drivers had better keep their unlicensed cars in their garages after midnight of Saturday."

Monday At Ten O'Clock Zero Hour For New Mayor And New City Councilman

A new hand will be placed at the rudder of the good ship New Castle Monday and the hand that will guide the craft will be that of William H. Gillespie, elected in November as mayor of New Castle. He will serve four years and succeed William H. Dunlap.

In guiding the ship the new mayor will be assisted by such able seamen as Tyler, Davies and Burns, the latter re-elected in November. Clayton H. Reeves will make his first journey as a councilman when he subscribes to the oath with Gillespie and Burns.

While the change is nothing new in the lives of those who circulate through city hall, it is new in the careers of Gillespie and Reeves. Neither has served as public office-holders in the past, but prospects for a bright administration are being held forth.

At 10 O'Clock.

The hour set for the induction of the new officials is 10 a. m. and probability is that council chambers, city building, will be crowded by representatives of all walks of life. Mayor William H. Dunlap, as president of council, until he administers the oath of Mayor-Elect Gillespie will be in charge.

Promptly at 10 a. m. the mayor, as president of council, will rap his gavel and call council to order. Each of the members will answer the roll call call after which the city clerk will read the certificates of election as furnished by the prothonotary and clerk of courts of Lawrence county.

Mayor Dunlap will administer the oath of office, required by law to the mayor-elect, Mr. Gillespie and as soon as he subscribes he will take his seat as president of council, relieving Mr. Dunlap who will have passed formally from office.

As president of council, Mayor Gillespie will administer the oath of office to Councilman Burns, re-elected, and Councilman Clayton H. Reeves. As soon as they subscribe they will take their seats, Mr. Reeves relieving Mr. Genkinger.

The next duty to be performed by the new mayor will be to administer oaths to Lewis McClung, city treasurer and successor to Ira Ramsey and Alvah Porter, re-elected city controller.

With the administration of oaths completed and Councilmen Burns, Davies, Reeves and Tyler in their seats, Mayor Gillespie will ask council to arganize for the new administration.

According to reliable report the councilmen will head the departments as follows: Mayor Gillespie, public affairs; Burns, accounts and finance; Davies, public safety; Reeves, streets and public improvements and Tyler, parks and proerty.

Following the organization council will adjourn until Tuesday at 10 a. m. Under the state law city council meets regularly Monday and also has sessions on Tuesday and Friday.

NAME LINTON AS HONOR MAN IN HIS PLATOON

William Albert Linton, apprentice seaman, U. S. navy, has completed the eight weeks' course of training at the naval training station, Hampton Roads, Va., with the distinction of being the "honor man" of his platoon. He was selected for this honor because of the manner in which he performed the many duties and details, his cleanliness of person and his unquestioning obedience of orders at all times. The eight weeks of training are taken up with infantry and artillery drill, boat and signal instruction, lectures on naval life and etiquette and lessons in swimming.

Linton enlisted at the local recruiting station on September 30, 1927. His trade on the outside was pipefitting, and a strong desire to travel and at the same time take advantage of the many opportunities offered by the navy, led him to enlist, and he likes it fine. He is being transferred to sea in a short time, at his own request, where he intends to follow his trade. His many friends wish him the best of luck. Linton was born at New Castle, Pa., on June 22, 1908, and has completed one year in high school.

His mother, Mrs. Richard Linton, who resides at 17 South Greenwood avenue, New Castle, has reason to be proud of her son and of the fine start he has made in the navy.

Picture Shows School Activities

One of the most interesting educational pictures seen here in some time is one now being run in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, showing the activities of the summer students in Culver Military Academy in Culver, Ind.

The pictures have taken in every phase of student life there showing cavalry drills, woodcraft lessons, naval maneuvers on Lake Maxincuckee, and the social events of the school. To many people the pictures were a revelation not alone as to the size of the school but the wide range of its activities.

The pictures will be shown in the cathedral the rest of the week, along with John Barrymore in "Don Juan."

Still, seaboard congressmen are just as keen about flood relief as inland congressmen are about a merchant marine.

Liner Suffers Heavy Damage In Big Pier Fire

Liner Seneca, Lower Section Of Pier And Smaller Crafts Are Destroyed

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The Clyde Liner, Seneca, was damaged to the extent of half a million dollars, the lower section of Lackawanna Pier No. 11 consumed and a number of smaller craft destroyed when fire broke out on the Eleventh street dock, Hoboken, today.

The flames quickly spread from the wharf to the big liner tied up at the pier and oil that had become scattered over the water carried the flames to other smaller vessels. Hoboken and New York fire equipment, including fireboats, fought the stubborn blaze for hours. Two members of the Seneca's crew were rescued by firemen. The intense heat seriously handicapped firemen who finally obtained the upper hand.

Rev. S. L. Maxwell To Be Speaker At Ministers Meeting

It had not been recovered today as far as the police of this city knew.

Estranged Wife Of Vaudeville Actor Is Found Slain

Man Questioned By Wilkes-Barre Police But Fails To Shed Light On Murder

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Dec. 30.—Guy Harrington, vaudeville actor whose divorced wife was found slain in a New York apartment, was unable to shed any light on the crime, police here said after questioning him.

Detectives were closeted in Harrington's apartment with him early today, but refused to make a detailed statement of what transpired it was reported that New York authorities asked local police to aid in an effort to solve the mystery.

Harrington said he would not go to New York, due to his local engagement. He will continue his leading role in his skit tonight as usual.

According to Harrington he had not seen the woman for a year. He recently announced his engagement to remarry as soon as a final decree was handed down in Binghamton, N. Y., in the divorce proceedings.

Governor Fisher And Staff Busy

Usual Year-End Rush Takes Place In Harrisburg Today, Motor Bureau Swamped

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—Capitol hill employes, from Governor John S. Fisher to clerks in the Bureau of Motor Vehicles today found themselves swamped by the rush that always accompanies the end of each calendar year.

The governor spent the entire forenoon signing commissions of state and county officials who take office Monday, Jan. 2. At noon the governor had signed 2130 commissions, of which 1545 were for aldermen and justices of the peace. The commissions signed also included 53 judges, 42 sheriffs and 24 Philadelphia magistrates.

When the bureau of motor vehicles opened today a line two blocks long was waiting to obtain 1928 motor licenses. A drizzling rain and work on Capitol park improvements which made a deep mud in the vicinity of the bureau added to the impatience of the army of late applicants.

The auditor general's office today completed the mailing of 37,000 corporation tax returns and 24,000 blanks for the last quarter gasoline tax.

Only Took 62 Years for Him to Get His Congressional Medal of Honor

After 62 years of waiting, Charles F. Hopkins, of Boonton, N. J., has finally received the Congressional Medal of Honor that he earned for conspicuous gallantry under fire during the Civil War.

However, don't blame the Government for the delay.

Mr. Hopkins could have had the medal, as well as the citation for distinguished bravery, 62 years ago. But he's a mighty modest man and was reluctant to apply personally for the honor.

The Hopkins couple were married right after Charles was mustered out of the Union Army, and they're celebrating their sixty-first wedding anniversary in January.

Indiana Girl Tries Suicide

Deserted By Young Husband And Also Alleged Sweetheart, Girl Attempts Life

MAY NOT RECOVER, DOCTORS DECLARE

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., Dec. 30.—Deserted by her young husband and abandoned by her alleged sweetheart, Mrs. Alice Allen, 18, was in the Indiana hospital today probably fatally wounded as the result of an attempted suicide in her home here late yesterday afternoon.

The young woman and her husband separated on account of domestic difficulties last May. Later she became interested in another man, whose name she refused to disclose.

The second man departed yesterday, ostensibly for Altoona, declaring that he would be away for a month, possibly longer. Mrs. Allen accompanied him to the train and then returned to her home.

Apparently in good spirits, she went to her room, but within a few minutes the sound of a shot was heard. Her mother, Mrs. J. M. Putt, found her daughter writhing on the bed with a bullet wound two inches above her heart. She was taken to the Indiana hospital. Her condition is serious and it is not expected that she will recover.

Her father has been an invalid for several years and this condition complicated with her domestic difficulties is believed to have unbalanced her mind.

GRAND JURY WILL LAUNCH PROBE OF HICKMAN'S CRIMES

his pockets was turned over to his widow without any attempt on the part of police to identify the handwriting. There was no inquest.

Mrs. Carrie M. Driskell, 42-year-old widow of the aged merchant and the step-grandmother of Hunt, reported Driskell as missing at 10 o'clock in the morning. His body was found under the world-famed "suicide bridge" later in the same day.

Following the confessions of Hickman and Hunt, Mrs. Driskell was questioned by the sheriff's office but was released when she denied any knowledge of the Rose Hill pharmacy holdup and said she was unaware of the boys criminal activities.

Both boys, in their confessions, said they had concealed their crimes from Mrs. Driskell, but that the grandfather "surmised" there was something wrong.

Probe Girl's Murder.

In outlining the new grand jury inquiry, which will open next Tuesday, attaches of the district attorney's office indicated that Mrs. Driskell would be called as a witness.

The murder of a young girl, who was found strangled to death near Milwaukee, Wis., and the slaying of an aged, unidentified man, whose bullet-pierced body was discovered huddled by the roadside near Cottonwood Falls, Kas., also will be investigated to determine whether Hickman and Hunt were in any way implicated, the district attorney's office indicated.

Investigation of these two mysterious murders has been requested by Kansas and Wisconsin authorities.

That Hickman and Hunt had a third accomplice in their wild career of crime was revealed by the arrest in Kansas City., Mo., of Frank Bernoudy, 20, who is reported to have confessed that he aided the two boys in a number of their holdups of drug stores and restaurants.

Bernoudy's purported confession is considered by authorities here as another important link in the confessed crimes of Hickman and Hunt, which include a rampage of banditry extending from Kansas City to the Pacific coast.

Meanwhile, Hickman is awaiting his arraignment for plea to the indictment charging him with the kidnaping and remorseless murder of little Marion Parker.

Through his attorney, Jerome Walsh, who hurried here from Kansas City to defend him, Hickman obtained a delay until next Tuesday afternoon when he will be required to plead either guilty or not guilty to the kidnaping and murder charges.

Observers of the case anticipated a plea of insanity. This defense also was indicated by the state's precaution in calling in alienists who examine Hickman and pronounced him sane.

May Have Killed Policeman.

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 30.—William Edward Hickman, confessed kidnaper and killer of little Marion Parker and admitted murderer of C. Ivy Thoms, Rose Hill druggist, may be linked to another Los Angeles murder.

Police detectives today began an attempt to connect "The Fox" with the killing of Policeman P. L. Bennett, shot to death in a millinery shop in downtown Los Angeles in the evening of Jan. 25, last.

This happened just one month and a day after Hickman's confessed slaying of the Rose Hill druggist.

"It is therefore ordered that George Remus be committed to the Lima state hospital for the insane and there confined until such time when he has been restored to reason, or until otherwise discharged by due process of law."

Remus when informed of the decision was much perturbed.

"My God. It looks pretty black for me," he cried and turned away.

Charles H. Elston, his attorney, announced that he would take steps immediately to have Remus released on a writ of error and habeas corpus proceedings.

Mails will be dispatched from the local post office on all mail trains as usual and special delivery letters will be delivered. Limited collections from mail boxes will be made on the regular holiday schedule.

BELIEVE GIRL HAS ELOPED

however. The aunt is a Women's Christian Temperance Union leader, and has waged a rentless warfare against the illicit liquor trade here.

The girl was described by her aunt as a home-loving type, only going out at nights to movies, accompanied by some member of the family, or to some church or Sunday School function.

Despite the aunt's assertion authorities here stated they were almost positive the girl had planned an elopment with Pocci, particularly after word was received here that a marriage license had been issued to the couple in Cumberland, Md.

Jack Davis, a cab driver here, told authorities he had driven the couple to Connellsville where they boarded a train for Cumberland.

W. L. Fordyce of South Jefferson street, South New Castle Boro, in a telephone call this morning with his sister-in-law Mrs. Bruce McVay of Brownsville, found that his daughter Mary Louise Fordyce and her alleged kidnapper Evan Pocci had received a marriage license at Cumberland, Md., last night at 10:00 o'clock.

Mrs. McVay, the girl's aunt with whom she has made her home since her mother's death in 1918 said that she had refusd the girl permission to receive attentions from Pocci but learned today that she had been going out with him unknown to the aunt.

Mr. Fordyce expects that his daughter having been married may perhaps come to see him here. Her father is very much relieved by the news as he feared his daughter was in the hands of cruel kidnappers and might be tortured or even killed and he hopes that he soon can see her again.

fine and costs and eight months to the workhouse.

Tony Frank, possessing liquor, $300 fine and costs and six months to the workhouse.

Andy Frank, possessing liquor, $300 fine and costs and eight months to the workhouse.

Warren Costal, possessing liquor, paroled for one year upon the payment of costs.

Lorenzo Tomaro, possessing liquor, paroled for two years upon the payment of $200 and costs.

James McDermott, chairman of the house committee of Elks lodge at Ellwood City, who was charged with setting up a gambling device in the shape of punch boards, was fined $25 and costs. It was explained that the punch boards had been operated for the purpose of raising funds with which to fill Christmas baskets for the poor at Christmas. The lodge had filled 64 baskets. As soon as it was learned that it was unlawful to operate the punch boards, the practice had been discontinued. Judge Chambers said that he did not consider that Mr. McDermott was any more responsible than other members of the lodge in the matter, and owing to the circumstances he was disposed to be very lenient.

George Burton, assault with intent to committ sodomy. $100 and costs and six months to the county jail.

Andy Sabo, possessing liquor, paroled for one year upon the payment of $100 and costs.

Carrie Fields, possessing liquor, fined $50 and sentenced to jail for three months, the sentence to date from Nov. 10th when she was arrested.

Robert Lutz, possessing liquor, paroled for one year upon the payment of costs.

Caesar Maline, manufacturing liquor, $300 fine and costs and workhouse for one year.

Negro Youth Under Arrest Regarding Slaying Of Girl

Seventeen-Year-Old Washington, Pa., Negro Boy Arrested As Slayer Suspect

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 30.—Police took Fred Drew, 17-year-old negro, into custody after the badly mutilated body of Thelma Young, 17, was found partly disrobed in the back yard of the Harry Brady home here today by Dominick Crisilo, a factory worker.

The girl's clothing had been torn from her body, and signs on the ground indicated she had put up a terrific struggle before she was killed. Blood spots were found within a radius of 50 feet from where the body lay.

Drew was found hiding under a bed when police went after him.

An autopsy performed over the body of the girl disclosed that she had been criminally attacked before she died.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Young of this city, and had six brothers and nine sisters. Her father was a worker in the glass factory here. She wore a checkered tan suit when the body was discovered.

Police quizzing the young negro, did not divulge what led them to arrest him in connection with the assault.

That the girl put up a terrific struggle was disclosed by the condition of her body and the ground nearby. The turf had been torn in a wide area and the girl's clothing had almost been torn to shreds as she fought off her assailant.

Commerce Commission Refuses Approval To Big Trackage Merger

Ambitious Railroad Consolidation Plans Of L. F. Loree "Up In Air"

Delaware & Hudson Sought To Acquire Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh Line

By HARRY WARD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—The ambitious railroad consolidation plans of L. F. Loree are "up in the air" again today, following the action of the interstate commerce commission in refusing to approve the application of the Delaware & Hudson to lease the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh and to link up the two properties with a trackage agreement over the Pennsylvania system between Buttonwood and DuBois, Pa.

The commission had previously refused to sanction the Loree proposal whereby the Kansas City Southern, Loree controlled, would take over the Cotton Belt and Katy systems. This proposal is being revamped and will be submitted again to the commission in the near future.

One of the principal reasons for the commission's action in denying the Delaware & Hudson's petition to lease the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh was that the proposed lease was for 999 years, while the trackage agreement had a life of only 20 years.

This trackage agreement "is made the more unstable by terms which provide that the agreement can be disturbed 'by modification and adjustment' at the end of any contract year by three months' prior notice by either of the parties," the commission's decision said.

Reasons Outlined.

"An additional reason for disapproval of the proposed lease is apparent in the general problem of proper disposition of these roads incident to the general grouping of lines in trunk line territory under the requirements of the transportation act. While we believe that these roads might advantageously form parts of a larger system connecting the Atlantic seaboard with the Great Lakes or the Mississippi valley, the present record is not sufficiently comprehensive to warrant the practically permanent assignment of such important lines as part of the same system. Nor is it a satisfactory answer to say that the lease could be terminated to meet future exigencies of consolidation."

The gradual exhaustion of anthracite coal, which forms a large part of the Delaware & Hudson's tonnage, was the principal reason for Loree's desire to lease the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh. Loree told the commission that the northern anthracite field, which his road serves, has a probable life of not more than 25 years, so that it was necessary to prepare for the disappearance in that time of the anthracite traffic, now amounting to 11,000,000 tons a year. The bituminous coal from the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh was desired to supply the place of the anthracite.

The commission pointed out that bituminous coal found on the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh may be regarded as inexhaustible.

State Educators Name Reading Man As New President

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Dec. 30. — With the election of Joseph H. Noonan, of Mahanoy City, as president of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, and the selection of Reading as the 1928 convention city, nearly 3,000 delegates to the 178th annual convention returned to their homes today.

Noonan's election came last night after an all-day deadlock with Dr. Rhys Powell, of Scranton, each with 249 votes. The other contested office, that of second vice president, went to H. E. Gress, Lancaster.

Physical fitness, moral worth and sound learning were pronounced the cardinal requisites of a good teacher by former Governor Martin Brumbaugh, of Huntingdon, in his speech to the delegates.

Guards Ready To Answer Emergency In Coal Strike

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Dec. 30. — State police and coal and iron guards in the Broadtop bituminous region today stood ready to answer any emergency call arising from possible trouble between union miners and imported workers who are being brought into the region.

Several minor clashes brought orders to police to be on the alert at Broadtop City and Robersdale where it was feared that the striking unionists and imported non-unionists might come to blows.

Local Men Aid Cook Forest Fund

Several Contributions Towards Purchasing Cook Forest Made Through Local Representative

S. G. Moore, representative of the Cook Forest Fund states that in the first days appeal many contributions have been made towards the fund for purchasing Cook Forest and making it into a state park.

Mr. Moore says that he is quite well pleased with the response to his first day's appeal, many subscriptions having been made and almost every one to whom he has spoken being in favor of the project.

Mr. Moore has been chosen as the local representative of the Cook Forest Association to make appeal for contributions on the purchasing of Cook Forest in Clarion county as a state park. This is the only large tract of virgin white pine forest in the country and the state of Pennsylvania has made an appropriation of $450,000 to be met by popular subscription of $200,000 for the purchase and improvement of the spot of beauty for a state park. Although the project is now assured, the Cook Forest Association hope to secure many subscribers to the fund so that the personal interest in the park will be more extensive.

Mr. Moore is prepared to assist in any way. His address is 336 Park avenue and his telephone number is 3620-M.

Chicago Stores Report Holiday Business Good

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Merchants in the Chicago area reaped a harvest of $183,000,000 during the holidays, a survey revealed. This sum, experts have computed, is about six per cent less than the amount spent by shoppers last year.

The survey included forty department stores, drug stores, jewelry shops, gift shops, confectionery, radio and music shops. Included in the sum too is the actual expenditure for Christmas "eats."

Experts arrived at the figure by computing that Chicago department stores do an annual business of $392,396,800 and twenty per cent of this is spent during the holiday period.

County Grangers Plan Activities

Mercer County Granges Arrange Programs For Coming Year; Other News

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Dec. 30.—Meetings that have as their purpose the planning of activities in each community during the year 1928 will be held at five central points for the members of the 32 Granges of Mercer county and farmers interested in their communities, starting this week and ending next.

Farmers are urged to come to these meetings prepared to discuss what in their opinion is the most needed asset in their community toward its betterment.

The five central points selected are Mercer, where a meeting is scheduled for the date of December 30; Sandy Lake, where it will be held the date of December 31; Hickory High school, where it is held on January 3; Greenville, where it is held on January 4; Grove City, where the meeting takes place on January 6.

The reporting of 14 cases of chickenpox during the past week at the office of the county medical director indicates the continued spread of the disease.

There have been 101 cases reported of this malady since the date of November 1 in Mercer county, which would indicate its presence in a light epidemic form at least.

Suit in the sum of $15,000 has been filed here today by Patrick O'Hara of Sharon for his daughter, Anna May O'Hara, against James Beegan of that city.

The bill of complaint alleges Beegan was driving his car at a reckless speed on June 22 last, three miles north of here, and that as a result the auto upset, turning over three times, injuring the girl, Anna May.

The father also sues for $1,000 damages for himself, due to the expense to which he was put.

Of the last einght terms of quarter session court, the largest in number of cases filed is that of October, 1927, when 231 cases were filed, the transcript docket shows.

For the four terms of 1926 a total of 554 cases were filed during the four terms of the year. For 1927 the total was 26 cases less.

A category of the cases would show that 60 per cent of them are actions in which the violation of the state liquor law is charged.

For 1926 the list of cases shows 121 in January, 138 in April, 112 in June, 185 in October.

For 1927 the same listing of terms: 113, January; 117, April; 67, June; 231, October.

Of the 162 coal mines in this district into which the bituminous tract is divided, the only mines that are operating full time are those in the Leesburg field near here, including the operating of the Sharon Coal and Limestone Company and the Leesburg Coal and Coke Company.

In the district 40 mines are closed down altogether. The district embraces the Pittsburgh coal region, it is said. The county mines are working six days a week.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of Fort Phil Kearney—Part II
Start Of The Powder River Expedition

IN 1866, GEN. HENRY B. CARRINGTON WAS ORDERED TO LEAD A MILITARY EXPEDITION INTO THE MOUNTAIN DISTRICT OF WYOMING TERRITORY AND THERE BUILD AND GARRISON A FORT FOR THE PROTECTION OF EMIGRANT TRAINS TRAVELLING OVER THE BOZEMAN TRAIL TO THE RICH MINING LANDS OF MONTANA.

ON MAY 19, 1866, CARRINGTON'S FORCE SET OUT FROM OLD FORT KEARNEY, NEBRASKA, TO MARCH TO THE POWDER RIVER REGION, 600 MILES AWAY, IN WYOMING. IN THE COLUMN WERE SEVEN HUNDRED SOLDIERS, FOUR FIELD-PIECES, ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-FOUR WAGONS AND A LARGE HERD OF CATTLE.

THE MISSION OF THE EXPEDITION WAS ONE OF PEACE AND, SINCE NO SERIOUS TROUBLE WITH THE RED MEN WAS ANTICIPATED, THE WIVES AND CHILDREN OF A NUMBER OF THE OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS WERE TAKEN ALONG TO MAKE THEIR HOME AT THE NEW FORT.

BECAUSE OF THE HERD OF CATTLE AND THE LONG TRAIN OF WAGONS, THE MARCH WAS SLOW, AND IT WAS NOT UNTIL JUNE 28TH THAT THE COLUMN REACHED FORT RENO, AN ISOLATED POST GUARDING THE TRAIL ONE HUNDRED AND SIXTY MILES FROM FORT LARAMIE.

TOMORROW—THE MARCH THROUGH THE INDIAN COUNTRY.

High Quintet Grabs Victory From Alumni

New Castle High Floor Team Defeats Alumni By Score Of 26 To 17

EX-STARS PUT UP FAST GAME

Flashing a fast attack in the final quarter, the New Castle high school basketball team defeated the Alumni team 26 to 17 in their annual battle at the senior high gym on Thursday night.

The game was nip and tuck the entire way with the ex-stars giving the local varsity combination plenty in the way of opposition. The Alumni team maintained a slight lead at the end of the third quarter, but fell down miserably in the fourth period to be outscored 13 to 3.

Harry Robinson, the "big blonde" Alumni forward, fired the opening gun of the battle soon after the whistle started the conflict, by dropping a basket from the middle of the court. This acted as an impetus to the former stars and they immediately started a fast and furious game against the varsity tossers. Robinson sent the Alumni into a lead of 4 to 0 with another basket before the high team could get under way. Paul Cuba rang up the first bucket for the high team and followed it up with another in a few minutes that deadlocked the count. Cuba shot a foul near the close of the first quarter that gave the high team a lead of 5 to 4 as the first quarter ended.

The Alumni team was held scoreless from the field in the second quarter, but Robinson managed to get a couple of fouls for the only points gained by the old timers. Cuba and Ostrosky led the New Castle team in scoring in the second session. The first half ended 10 to 6 with the Bridenbaugh machine in the van.

The third quarter found the Alumni team playing rings around the varsity and scoring eight points to three for the red and black team. Franklin, the stellar forward on last year's championship team, went into action in the third stanza and caged the ball three times in succession on shots that smacked of the spectacular. The score at the end of the third period favored the Alumni 14 to 13.

Whether or not the Alumni boys exerted themselves just a little too strenuously in the first three sessions will probably never be known, but the fact stands out like a sore thumb that the New Castle high team, led by Reider and Alexander, simply made life miserable for the ex-stars in the fourth and final period and piled up a handsome lead. The varsity team caged baskets from almost every angle on the court.

It was a mighty fine game and served as an excellent workout for the New Castle high team in preparation for the league season that opens next Friday night at the senior high gym with Evans City playing here.

Tonight the New Castle high team will travel to Farrell for a floor engagement with the Farrell high quintet.

The summary:

New Castle high 26		Alumni 17
Reider	F.	Robinson
Cuba	F.	Franklin
Alexander	C.	McGrath
Ostrosky	G.	Sumner
Sillman	G.	Klaber

Subs—Day, Johnson, Thomas, McClelland, Turk.

Field goals—Reider 3, Cuba 4, Alexander 2, Ostrosky 2, Robinson 3, Franklin 3.

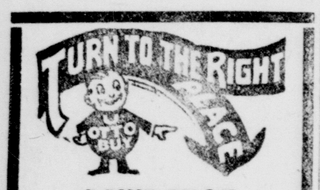

Fouls—New Castle high 4 out of 15, Alumni 5 out of 13.

Referee—Fraser.

Fire-escapes have been placed on the Euwer building where the Armory A. A. is erected and within two weeks it will be the scene of fisticuffs, it being the intention of William Jolley to promote the first show during the first two weeks of January.

According to reports in Pittsburgh Tom Davies may be signed as football coach at Colgate.

C. C. Pyle is preparing to stage a cross-cintinent race. This is a tip to Glenn Dilks, 100 mile racer of this city.

On account of the poor showing against George Godfrey the boxing commission has suspended Soldier Jones.

Captain Welsh and his Pitt Panthers, enroute to play Leland Stanford held a stiff workout at Albuquerque Thursday.

The Immigration Four and Copple Bros., entertainers, are expected to show at the Newsboys performance.

Knowing they read this column, the writer will expect a telephone call stating they will be present January 2.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Make Showing At Pittsburgh

Five boys of the New Castle Y. M. C. A., under the supervision of Henry McNicholas, assistant physical director, journeyed to Pittsburgh on Thursday and competed in the western Pennsylvania inter-association swimming meet held at the "downtown" Y. pool.

The local boys, considering the fact that it was the first time for them in swimming competition with other associations from this district, made a most pleasing showing, and while they did not capture any first places, pushed the winners hard for victory.

The following boys, all under 15 years of age, made the trip: Harry Mooney, Herbold, Allen, Rogers and George. There were but three events and the New Castle boys finished as follows: 40-yard back stroke, Herbold of New Castle, second, and Mooney of New Castle, third; 80-yard relay for boys: New Castle finished second. Diving: Allen of New Castle tied for third place.

The boys were coached for the meet by Walter E. Kirker and Edward Geasa. Mr. Geasa, swimming instructor at Ben Franklin high pool, deserves credit for the manner in which the boys conducted themselves in the first meet of its kind they have ever entered.

Nine associations were represented at the meet.

Huge Sum Expended By Illinois Fight Fans During Year

Estimate That 507,000 Persons Witnessed Boxing In Illinois In 1927

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Dec. 30.—Athletic enterprises controlled by the Illinois Boxing Commission have netted the state $338,836.59 during the fiscal year ended Dec. 1, according to the report of acting chairman Paul Prehn, made public today.

Of this amount $249,189.16 was collected from one show—the Tunney-Dempsey battle at Soldiers Field last September. A total of 1,610 exhibitions and matches were held during the year.

The total attendance was listed at 507,000.

Forfeits to the amount of $195,200 were handled by the commission, the report states.

Seifert Forced To Fight Rocco

Ohio And Gotham Ring Solons Back Up Zill's Ultimatum

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 30—When Emmett Rocco handed Promoter Al Zill of this city his ultimatum of Sandy Seifert or nobody, Zill took the bull by the horns and had the Ohio state and New York boxing commissions give the coy Mr. Seifert an ultimatum also.

Both bodies notified Sandy that he would go through with this fight with Rocco or face an indefinite suspension. That means, fans, that you will see the one and only Sandy Seifert do his stuff at the Rayen-Wood auditorium on the afternoon of January 2.

GRID PLAYERS HAVE BANQUET

The members of the Colored Stars football team, local independents, enjoyed a splendid banquet at the McGoun hall on Wednesday night.

The following program was given: Short talk, Isadore Jordan; saxophone solo, V. Fitzhugh; dialogue, I. Jordan and V. Fitzhugh; trio, J. Ellis, W. Farrow, T. Jackson; reading, T. Farrow.

The Stars completed a most successful football season, having won six games and lost two. Among the teams defeated by the Colored Stars is the New Castle Tin Mill team, industrial champions. The Stars defeated the Tin Mill 19 to 0 early in the season, but in a return game were beaten 14 to 0. The Stars made 25 points against 15 for their opponents.

SORDS POINTS

A Man May Be Down But He's Never Out

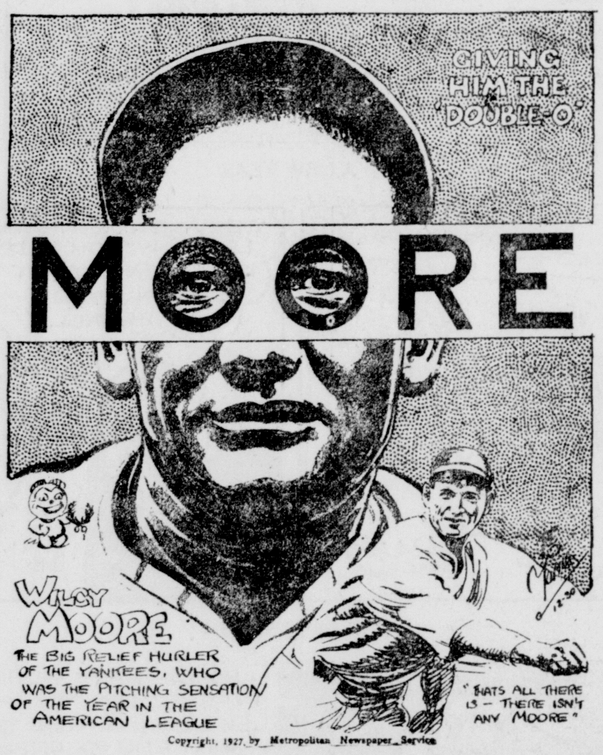

Speaking of long counts, Stanley Coveleskie, the big Polish spitball pitcher, has it all over Gene Tunney. They started counting Covey out of the big leagues back in 1924, but he's still in the fight. The Yankees are going to give him another try in the spring.

Stanley was floored for the first time by Tris Speaker, then manager of the Cleveland Indians, when he released him to Washington in 1924. But Covey got up from that blow with vengeance in his eye and rallied to the extent of 20 victories and five defeats for Washington in 1925. However, that was his last good round. He was dropped again the next year when Manager Harris labeled him "through" and gave him his unconditional release. Again he got up. This time with the Yankees, but his arm was weak. It lacked the punch of former years, and he soon went down for the third time. Now he is getting up again and is going back with the Yanks for another try. He claims his arm is in good enough shape to carry him through for at least one more year.

Coveleskie is 36 years old now and has been pitching big league ball for 12 years. He made his first bid for major league fame in 1912 with the Athletics. But after working in five games there he was released to Spokane, which transferred him to Portland in a player agreement. He came to Cleveland in 1915.

O, O, What A Relief!

By Feg Murray

The phrase made famous by the inimitable Ethel Barrymore—"That's all there is, there isn't any more"—may, with the addition of one "o" in the middle of the last word, be used appropriately in describing Wilcy Moore, the big pitcher of the New York Yankees who made such a fine record during 1927. Coming from the Greenville club to the Yanks, this big Oklahoma farmer found himself, at the end of the season, one of the heroes of the world series, with a record of 19 games won and seven lost for the season, and with the reputation of being as great a relief hurler as "Firpo" Marberry of the Senators.

Wilcy Moore took part in an even 50 games in 1927, and, just to show how easy it was, he went in and rescued a mate in distress in the first game of the world series, and then pitched the entire fourth game, allowing ten hits and, strangely enough, getting a safe bingle himself.

The reason Mr. Moore of the Oklahoma Moores is being given the "once over" at the present time is that while the hot stove league season is on, there is no more juicy morsel for a Yankee fan to chew on during the long winter months than this same Mr. Moore. No bad habits, a cool, steady, smart, strong, dependable pitcher, that's Mr. Moore; and if his robust frame, wide-awake mind, and trusty "sinker ball" don't win him great fame during 1928, I'll eat the two "O's" in his last name.

Feg Murray Says—

Tourist in Norway: "But the coastline looks so much more lovely than it did a few years ago."

Native: "Yes, madame, you see, it's the new Fjords."

Giants Arrange Exhibition Card

Vanguard Of New York Giants To Leave For Southland On February 15

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—The New York Giants will play at least 23, and possibly 26, exhibition games on their spring training trip next season. Most of the contests are with the Senators, Athletics and Red Sox. No National League clubs will be met.

A squad of 20 pitchers and catchers will report to Manager McGraw at Hot Springs, Ark., on February 15. They will join the regular squad at Augusta, Ga., two weeks later.

Grovers To Play Wittenburg Five

GROVE CITY, Dec. 30.—The Grove City College basketball team left yesterday morning for Springfield, O., where Wittenburg College will be played tonight. Last night the Crimson players stopped in Columbus. They are expected to return to Grove City tomorrow.

Only nine men in all made the trip, seven players with Manager Robb and Coach Thorn. The lucky players were Captain Gilliam, Angelo, Gurney, Rankin, Ryan, Burke, and Reeves. The squad will practice next Monday night the opening practice following the holiday season.

Taylor To Fight Canzoneri Tonight In New York Ring

Bud Taylor, Hard-Hitting Hoosier Featherweight Returns to Madison Square

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Bud Taylor, most consistent of all fighters before the public today, unless you care to make an exception in the case of Gene Tunney himself, and no other, will meet Tony Canzoneri tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round bout that will decide two interesting points, one of which bears the aspect of downright drama. It was almost four years ago to the month that Taylor, fists flying and cold grey eyes flashing, knocked Frankie Jerome into that nether state of unconsciousness from which nearly every victim emerges. Frankie didn't. He died that night in Bellevue hospital.

For four years Taylor has gone right on fighting the best and the worst in all sections of the land, but he fought none of them in the Garden ring. Tonight he will return to the auspices under which the tragedy was enacted, although another Garden and another ring since has risen up to replace the old.

Perhaps Taylor had other reasons for not appearing at the club which witnessed the first of two fatal finishes in which he has been an innocent principal. The other resulted in the death of Clever Scencio, Filipino, and the writer feels certain that Taylor never returned to fight again at the scene of that tragedy. Somehow, too, I suspect that Taylor's avoidance of the Garden was equally intentional.

GRID COACHES DISCUSS RULES

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—"Football week" in New York will end today, with the annual meeting of the coaches. Following a closed session this morning the mentors were to conduct an open forum this afternoon. Vigorous criticism of some of the existing gridiron rules is expected to be made.

Next FRIDAY

Whippet will be the most valuable car ever offered for so little money

John N. Willys
President, The Willys-Overland Company

AFTER months of preparation, we are ready to present the perfected Whippet for 1928.

You will be satisfied and delighted with every detail of its equipment and performance. You will be amazed when you learn how low is the price. For Willys-Overland resources and equipment are now such that no car of equal quality can be built and sold at a lower price.

Engineering Leadership

Present light car standards are a tribute to the pioneering the Whippet has done. Four-wheel brakes—lower center of gravity—greater economy—greater roominess—quieter engines—faster speed and pick-up—greater beauty—no one today would think of buying a car that had not made these advances.

Many Added Features

Among the many things you will like in the 1928 Whippet are improved bodies in a wide variety of beautiful colors, and fitted with cadet-type visor, full crown fenders, an engine that doubles its rated horse-power, full pressure lubrication, silent timing chain, gasoline tank in rear, long, semi-elliptic springs, oversize balloon tires and snubbers, an adjustable steering wheel, automatic windshield wiper, rear view mirror and stop light.

Remarkable Records

Owners have driven and tested the Whippet for more than five hundred million miles. It has established record after record in proof of its superiority. It holds the A. A. A. Coast-to-Coast economy record, averaging 43.28 miles to the gallon. It set a record of 71.6 miles an hour in a speed test on Rockingham Park Speedway. It accelerates from 5 to 30 miles in 11.5 seconds; turns in a 17-foot radius, and parks in 14 feet of curb space.

We suggest you see the Whippet and get the new price next Friday.

CHURCH TEAMS PLAY TONIGHT

Three fast basketball games are on tap tonight at the Y. M. C. A., for followers of the New Castle Church League. The first game will start at 7:30 o'clock.

The First Baptist team will meet the Central Christians in the first game. The second tilt will find the First M. E. boys tangling with the Temple Israel. The third game is between the First Christians and Mahoning M. E.

Baseball History Of City Recalled

Memories of the days, when the city of New Castle had a baseball team, which was not only known in this district for its ability, but which in reality was one of the best in the United States for a number of years, was recalled the other day when Attorney C. H. Young found, in going over some law books, a small card on which was printed the schedule of the famous Neshannocks.

The schedule is approximately 50 years old and showed that the Neshannocks played quite a heavy schedule for a team in those days. In fact, it would be quite a good schedule for the average semi-professional, and even the independent professional teams of today.

There were 35 games listed, and these were only the ones played on the home grounds here. The teams listed were those of Youngstown, Franklin, New Brighton, East Liberty and Oil City.

The cards had been printed by the late James C. Hutton, widely known druggist of former years.

WILLIE HOPPE

Willie Hoppe, at an age other billiardists have hung up their cues, is still very much in the game. Only recently he trimmed a chap by the name of Wakefield in a three-cushion match by the astonishing score of 50 to 2.

For nearly thirty years Hoppe was the leading billiardist of the world. He won all the honors and championships known, and gained international fame. He is truly one of the outstanding men in sports.

Varsity Men To Attend Banquet

Fellow Players To Be Guests Of Mr. And Mrs. T. C. Richards

Twenty-five lettermen of the New Castle high school football team of 1927 will be the special guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Richards at the testimonial dinner in honor of their son, Charles (Tip) Richards, at Humbert hall January 5. The principal address will be made by Clarence Overend, Carnegie Tech. It is planned to present last year's captain with a token as an evidence of the esteem in which he is held by the football fans.

Savoia Team To Play Shamrocks

The Casa Savoia basketball team will meet the Shamrocks tonight at the Savoia floor at 7:30 o'clock.

The Savoia team with ten straight victories to its credit will try to make it 11 straight tonight. The lineup for the game tonight will likely be as follows: Captain Fred Marcella, Natale or Turco at the forwards. Y. Marcella at center and DiThomas, Ciccone or Mancine at the guards.

The Savoia boys have been defeated but once this year and that was by the Cooksey Express team of Youngstown.

Sport Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Phil Scott, incumbent (and recumbent) heavy champ of England, don't like our referees. He thinks they gave him a deal as raw as a chorus girl's costume.

Phil is one of these birds who would call the World war a draw.

IN HIS FIRST BOUT HERE SCOTT WAS SLAMMED COLD IN THE FIRST ROUND. THAT'S ABOUT AS CONCLUSIVE AS A DEATH CERTIFICATE.

Anyway Phil never does things by halves. He had two fights over here and lost both of them.

* * *

Just because English heavyweights can't stay up we shouldn't look down on that country. Remember, the boys over there kept their beer.

When Scott returned to England he was chagrined to find that the Prince had stolen a march on him. Wales had fallen twice to Scott's once.

OUR ONE HOPE IS THAT WHEN WALES BECOMES KING AND IS SITTING ON THE THRONE, NO ONE YELLS "GIDDAP."

He was a genius who thought up the scheme of making penny Christmas cards respectable by charging a dime for them.

Americanism: Racing like mad to get somewhere; wondering how to kill surplus time when you get there.

SALLY'S SALLIES

Fable: A collegiate couple sat through a theatrical performance without chattering.

You will be astonished at the NEW Features - NEW Beauty - NEW Performance that General Motors has provided in this New Car

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Bobby Jones, golfing king, has gone to the dogs.

And is enthusiastic about them.

When I was in Atlanta for the Georgia-Georgia Tech gridiron battle Jones' main desire in life for the moment was to take in the Georgia State Field Trial Association meeting at Waynesboro, that state, to study hunting dogs.

Bobby has some spaniels that he brought back from Europe but they won't do exactly for hunting. They are springer spaniels, a house dog size, and different from the cocker spaniel.

The cocker spaniels are good field dogs, bringing in the birds for the jolly hunter.

Jones no doubt will get a thrill out of watching dogs retrieve his birdies. In his own game Bobby's birdies are just listed on the score card and left where they lie—in the cup.

Ty Cobb is an enthusiastic lover of dogs and he and the links wizard have had many a chat in recent months over the animals.

Joe Jacobs, well-known fight manager, has just purchased the services of Jack Delaney, light heavy and heavyweight fighter, from Delaney's former manager for the reported sum of $50,000.

Just how much of the $50,000 is currency or negotiable securities and how much is conversational coin is another matter. The announcement of Jacobs that Delaney will not only seek the heavyweight championship but will knock out Dempsey while doing it and then beat Tunney is interesting.

Delaney is as good now as he ever will be. He is not a newcomer in the ranks of the legitimate heavyweights. There is no reason to believe that he will do much more than he has todate.

Delaney helped start Tex Rickard's heavyweight tournment last year—which led to the Dempsey-Tunney battle. Canadian Jack met Jimmy Maloney, Boston butcher, in the first preliminary and failed to outpoint the younger and greener man. Maloney won on the decision.

Johnny Risko, Cleveland rubber man, slammed Delaney all over the ring. Delaney's best work was against Paul Berlenbach, Astoria Assassin, as a light heavyweight, when Berlenbach was in his prime. Delaney has not improved as a fighter since then.

Delaney will no doubt draw the crowds for some time. He is a popular, picturesque fighter—a fast man and a clever boxer and hard hitter. But there is no reason to believe he has suddenly become a real contender for Tunney's crown.

At forty-two Jack Britton is back in the ring—forced to return through financial reverses suffered in the Florida land bubble. He is frank enough to admit the cause of his presence—which puts him above the usual run of vets. No hokum about feeling that he can still fight good enough to lick the present champion.

His comeback recalls an interesting speech made some years ago. It was on the occasion of a banquet tendered Johnny Kilbane, by his home town folk, previous to his departure on a European trip. Britton was one of the honored guests.

He was called upon for a few words.

He arose rather hesitatingly. Started off in the usual way.

"I didn't expect to be called upon tonight.

A pause.

"I'm glad to be here to help honor Johnny."

Another pause.

"I'm not much of a speaker."

A shifting of feet as though he would be much more at home could he but do a little shadow boxing instead.

"I didn't expect to be called upon (painful pause) but I guess I said that before."

Another apparent prayer for words. Then—

"I'm glad to be here to help honor Johnny—but I guess I said that before."

Silence—while he shifted his position.

"I'm not much of a speaker—but I guess I said that before."

"So I guess that's all I have to say."

Needless to say the speech went over big. Britton, always popular wherever the fight bugs collect, received a great hand and sat down blushing.

And to this day those who attended the feed are still figuring that Jack slipped over a short hook to the jaw—as a speech maker.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 30.—Irregularity with extreme narrow price changes featured the stock market in the early trading today. Speculative interest was centered in the steel, motors and city utility stocks, but the large volume of profit-taking and "cash" selling effectively blocked the way to further rallies in prices of the speculative favorites. The cash selling was for the purpose of establishing losses for income-tax calculations, not unusual at this time of year.

Motor stocks commanded a firm market, with General Motors, Chrysler, Hudson, Overland, Hupp and other active stocks in this group at or near the peak prices of the week, but only fractionally above Thursday's close. The forthcoming motor show in New York is expected to be a harvest period for the signing up of new orders for cars of all makes and models, and car sales at this annual festival have been increasing by leaps and bounds.

Discuss Business Prospects For 1928

PHILADELPHIA

By ALBERT M. GREENFIELD
President Bankers Bond and Mortgage Company

ALBERT M. GREENFIELD

The year 1928 will see the release of the enormous buying power which now is pent up. Just at present, largely by reason of psychological influences, there is a disposition on the part of the people to be careful in their expenditures. This obviously strengthens their buying power.

In any consideration of future business conditions the basic propositions of the United States today must be considered. In resources the country is tremendously wealthy. Through organization of brains and capital and the ingenuity of science, this country has developed mechanical appliances and electrical power in such stupendous quantities as to make a per capita production here two to three times as great as the per capita production of any other countries in the world.

There has been a very decided liquidation in prices of commodities during the year 1927, as well as in those lines where there are accumulations of stocks or of properties, as in copper, leather, cotton and even in real estate, where values in a great many cases have been adjusted downward from the speculative levels to which they had been carried.

While the American people have been spending in a great way, there are evidences, as indicated in savings deposits, life insurance, home buying and other ways, that they are not spending all, and that the wealth of the country is consistently increasing, with the annual income now estimated at about 90 billion dollars. Once this income is expended, as there are evidences it will be to a great extent in 1928, business is bound to prosper.

Faith may not effect many cures, but at least it would cure the habit nations have of arming against one another.

Conservatism is an inherent conviction that in the very nature of things a million dollars can't be guilty.

Some people live 50 or 60 years with tight shoes always hurting their feet.

NEW YORK

By CHARLES E. MITCHELL
President National City Bank

With a sound credit situation, a return of Ford and other leading manufacturers to a normal output, a continuance of large scale building and the substantial improvement that occurred in 1927 in agricultural conditions, we have powerful influences tending to swing business back into its stride and to put 1928 definitely in the list of years that have brought good times to the United States.

The new year from an economic and financial standpoint presents every opportunity for greater prosperity and I think we can largely eliminate the political campaign of 1928 as an adverse factor in business because important economic questions do not seem to be as involved as is ordinarily the case.

America today, with its vast territory unimpeded by tariff barriers, its intelligent, hard-working people and their high standard of living, its natural resources, its unequalled producing facilities, makes a pessimist out of place.

BOSTON

By CLIFTON H. DWINNELL
President First National Bank

CLIFTON H. DWINNELL

The close of 1927 finds general business in a sound position, though on a downward trend. The recession now under way will run its course, and a moderate upturn in business may be expected in the early part of 1928, with possibilities thati the volume of busines swill reach fairly high levels before the end of the year.

Commodity prices this year have held most of the gains made. In most lines, stocks of goods have been kept down to moderate proportions, and the recent decline in production has further improved the inventory position. A few sustaining forces are in evidence. The money market is easy, and no important changes are anticipated for 1928. Credit resources are ample for all legitimate requirements, and promise to continue so for the new year.

Labor is well employed at high wages. Improvement in the agricultural situation has provided the farmer with greater income for the liquidation of debts, and for the purchase of additional goods and equipment. Some of the industries which have been in a state of depression, notably textiles, shoe leather and allied industries, have made good recovery during the past year, and the outlook is encouraging for 1928.

With better employment and increased efficiency in industry the people of Europe are constantly improving the standard of living and are purchasing an increasing volume of goods from this country.

Married men of Eibar a Spanish town of 10,000 inhabitants never go home to lunch. They have a local proverb which says it is unlucky if men lunch at home more than twice in their lives—on the day of their marriage and on the day of their death.

The difference between "disgusting morons" and "poor heathen" is that the poor heathen are three thousand miles away.

CLEVELAND

By LEONARD P. AYRES
Vice President Cleveland Trust Company

LEONARD P. AYRES

The present prospects are that the conditions of general business will improve shortly.

There seems to be four conditions necessary for recovery following a depression. The first of these is expanding industrial production. It seems reasonable to expect this early next year, because the normal consumption of many essential industrial products calls for greater rates of output than those now being recorded.

The second essential is an ample supply of easily available credit, and that we have, and apparently shall continue to have. The third requisite is agricultural well-being, which we have at least to a degree greater than seemed at all possible only a few months ago. The buying power of the agricultural districts this winter and next spring will be better than it has been for several years past.

The last of these four essentials is a good export trade, which seems assured for at least most of the coming year.

The amount of new building construction in this country in 1928 may well be even greater than that of 1927, and if this proves to be the case the costs of building are likely to advance somewhat during the year.

The prospects are that industrial profits in 1928 will be greater than those in 1927.

A Mexican roomer in the house told police "a big black fellow" had left the house this morning and had been seen talking to Sperduto yesterday.

There apparently had been quite a struggle before Sperduto was killed. There was numerous blood spots on the floor of his bedroom and a trail of blood indicated the body had been carried into the kitchen where it was found.

The Mexican told authorities he had been awakened by a noise, and that he had seen the "big black fellow" leaving just as he reached the kitchen.

New Year Party At The Castleton

Gala Supper-Dance Event At Big Hotel Scheduled For Tonight

Although it is a trifle early yet The Castleton will help usher in the new year this evening at a gala Christmas and New Years supper dance, which will start at 9 o'clock, announces John I. Slack, manager of the hotel.

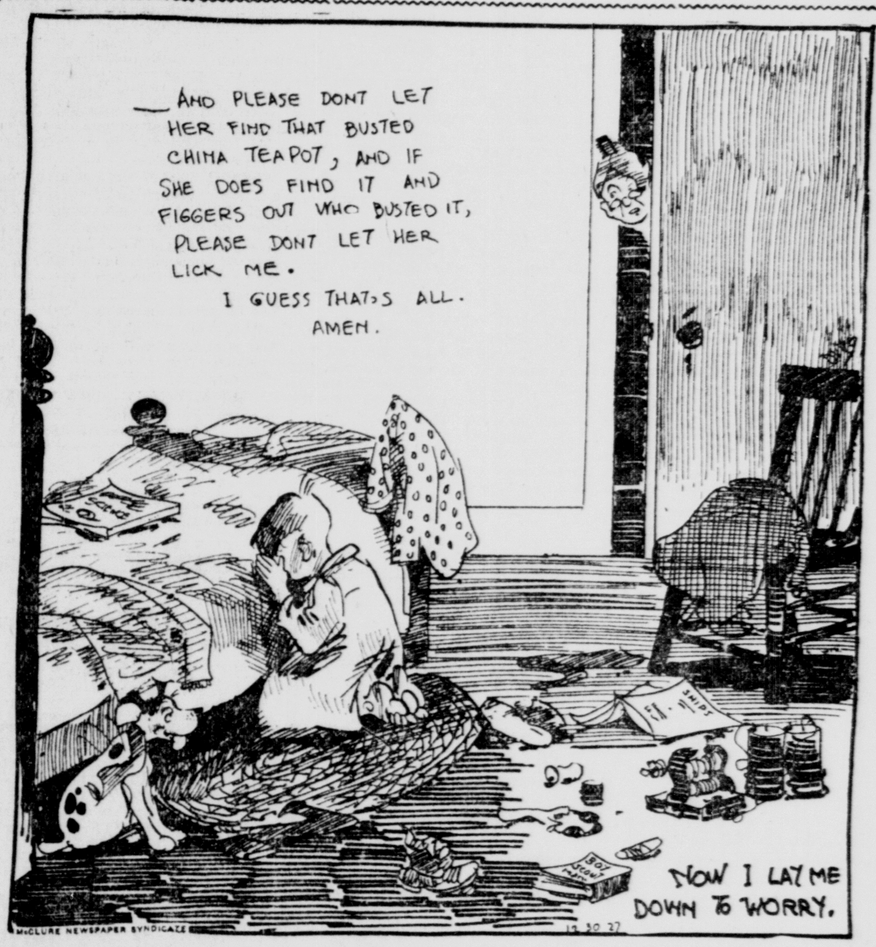

This is the second of a series of dances which will be given at The Castleton during the winter, and it is expected far to exceed the Thanksgiving affiar. Decorations will be most elaborate, done in tones of red and green. Horns and hats—all sorts of noise makers—will be distributed to the guests, and, says Mr. Slack, "We will let mirth prevail."

Joe Behse of Saginaw, Mich., and a party of four are coming to the dance by airplane. Mr. Behse, who constructs army and commercial planes, is a close friend of Stewart B. Howson, steward of the hotel, both having served in the same airplane battalion during the late war. It is expected that Mr. Behse and his party will land at the Watson field in Youngstown, from where they will motor to New Castle.

Mr. Slack also wishes to announce that a special New Years dinner will take place both Sunday and Monday.

New Castle Folks Not Very Strong For Any Change In Calendar Year

To most people a day is a day, a month is a month, and a year is a year, or some 365 days. But to a certain group of scientists a year is beginning to mean far more than twelve irregular months: it looks like 13 months, all of 28 days. In fact, these same scientists agitate to do away with the old Gregorian system and in its place install this new method of reckoning time.

What do you thing should be done? Can the modern world get along without the old system, whereby an extra day is added each four years?

Think of what it would mean to the maiden ladies of the city, the country, and the world! And so, a reporter was commissioned to go about, questioning this man and that man, to find out if the citizens of New Castle entirely approve of the innovation.

And, taking it by and large, one can say that they do not. Especially the men folks. Of the ladies, one cannot be so certain, for they veil their replies with vague references to the old custom of a lady exercising her leap year perogative.

But let the men and women speak for themselves.

Ray F. Hall, manager of the New Castle Credit Exchange, was one of the first to express his views on the matter. "Off hand," he declares, "I cannot see what difference it would make in the long run. By the new method, there would still be one and one half days left unaccounted for. What will become of them? Things are going very nicely as they are, and really, I cannot see any reason for the change. And anyway, we are living in an age that is too uniform. Variety, it is said, is the spice of life, and I believe that this applies to the months in a year, just as to anything else."

In at the Chamber of Commerce, the assistant to the secretary, who wishes that her name be withheld, expresses the same views about the matter. "We are doing very well as it is," she says, "and besides, the women wouldn't want to do away with leap year for anything! But I can see that it would make all reckoning a lot simpler."

Another young lady permits us to quote her as saying that she would hate to get married on a leap year, and therefore, she favors any movement which will do away with the year and therefore the custom.

Another protest against the new system is registered at the New Castle Motor Club, where the manager, Bernard N. Hanlon, declares that by changing the calendar, we would be going back to where we were some 2,000 years ago. This, he says, is an age of progression, and he cannot see how the insertion of another month into the calendar will help matters any.

J. A. Sulzer is of the same opinion. What we have is serving us well, is his idea, and why should we "ball things up" as they were for almost 200 years after the inauguration of the present system?

"Of course," avers Ex-District Attorney George W. Muse, "the new system would be far more orderly, but one must take into consideration whether the upset would balance the advantages, for there surely would be an enormous upset in affairs now going on. Under the present arrangement there is no particular system, and system is what we need."

"Although it would be good for some, yet it would not be so good for others," states Billy Williams, clerk at the Leslie. "And so, it is six of one and a half dozen of the other, although an orderly month would do much good in hotel work."

That an orderly system would be a splendid idea for business is the idea of Jack Dunfee, city manager of the Bell Telephone company. And aside from being a good business proposition, it would also safeguard the lives of many valuable young men from the wiles of what is called in more polite circles the "Honorable Unfair Sex. "But, really, it is a wonderful idea, and I believe that it should have been adopted years ago."

T. J. Harper, manager of the Bell Telephone company, presents an unique side of the question. "Yes," he says, "it would be fine—if we are to be paid thirteen months salary at the present monthly rate. I am sure that everyone will be in favor of it if that is the case."

John C. Carlin, who has made quite a study of calendars of all sorts says that there are no advantages in the new system, for the scientists are offering nothing better. At the present rate, he declares, the difference in the civil year and the solar year does not amount to a day in 3000 years, and nso he advocates no change.

And there you are. Almost everyone who expressed an opinion were unanimous in their belief that the old system should remain, with the exception of a few ladies, who want the ancient stigmata against leap years changed. But perhaps the reporter did not get your opinion. What do you think about it?

Bell Company To Expend $25,000,000

A total of $25,573,000 is to be spent by The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania next year for expanding the telephone plant throughout the state, according to the recently approved budget figures for that organization announced today by Mr. T. J. Harper, District Manager for the Company here. Practically all portions of the Commonwealth where the Bell Company operates will come in for a share of the expenditures in prospect.

Although a large portion of the expenditures will be used for central office equipment, more than one-third of the total amount of money to be spent is for "outside plant." This is the equipment and apparatus outside of the central offices and includes such items as poles, crossarms, overhead and underground cables, etc. In round figures, this expenditure amounts to $9,875,000 for the state.

Woman, 100, Says "Do Nothing But Live"

SEDAN, France, Dec. 30.—Here is the secret of long life, according to Madame Hoty, whose passing the century mark was the occasion of an official celebration here:

"Don't worry. Do nothing but live. Don't indulge in foolish ambitions. Be content with what you've got."

Mme. Hoty was born in Sedan November 30, 1827. Her husband, who was born in 1821, died at the age of 78. She was an eye-witness of the revolution of 1848, the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71 and the Great War, many of the battles of which were fought around here. Mme. Hoty reads several newspapers every day without glasses and talks entertainingly on a host of subjects. She has an excellent appetite.

Mrs. Elliott-Lynn, the woman flying ace of Great Britain has married Sir James Heath a wealthy iron manufacturer . A week before her marriage she created a new record for light planes by ascending to 19,000 feet, carrying a passenger.

A march has been composed in honor of 32 Vennese motormen who have driven their cars ever since electric railways were introduced into Vienna 25 years ago.
